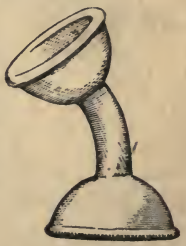
Pelvic Uterine Supporter.



This cut represents a Pelvic or Self-Supporting Uterine Supporter. It has a cup on either end (the lower one being inverted), connected by a flexible stem with a hole extending through its entire length.

It is inserted in the vagina. The upper cup receives the neck of the uterus. The lower cup is also inserted, the rim resting on the pelvic floor. The walls of the vagina are not dilated, as in the case of a Pessarie of ordinary make.

I make three sizes of cups, viz.: Small, 1½ inches; Medium, 1¾ inches; Large, 2 inches. Three lengths stem: Short, Medium, Long.

Price, to Physicians, $2.00 each.

FARR'S IMPROVED

Flexible Uterine Supporters.

You will see by the Cuts (see next page) that I make two styles of Combined Abdominal and Uterine Supporters, each being supplied with Elastic Belts and Adjustable Pads for the back and kidneys. They are the only perfectly easy and efficient Uterine Supporter in use. The cup is made of pure rubber, with a coil spring moulded or imbedded in the stem, which gives it rigidity enough to hold the weight, yet it conforms and yields to the varying positions of the body, whether sitting or stooping. It is perfectly easy, and gives the wearer no inconvenience whatever. It is easy to insert, and is held in position by two elastic cords attached to the belt (as shown in the cuts), and being supplied with Adjustable Pads for the back or kidneys thus relieves the spine from all pressure, and enables you to put the pressure directly over the weak or painful parts. In fact, the Combined Abdominal, Back, Kidney, and Uterine Supporter is by far the best that has ever been offered to the profession or public.

I make 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42-inch belts.

I also make three sizes of Flexible Cups: Nos. 1, 2, and 3.

Two length Stems: 2¾ and 3 inches.

Fig1.

The prices, to physicians, are as follows:—

Improved Combined Abdominal and Uterine Supporter, as shown in Fig. No. 1	$5.00
Combined Adjustable Pad Supporter, shown in Fig. 2	4.00
Improved Belt, without Cup, as shown in Fig. 1	$3.00
Adjustable Pad Belt, without Cup, as shown in Fig. 2	2.00
Plain non-elastic Belt, with Uterine Cup	3.00
Back and Kidney Belt alone (without Cup, and two Pads only), Fig. 2	1.50
Flexible Uterine Cups	2.00
Pelvic Uterine Supporters	2.00

A MANUAL

OF THE

PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE OF OPERATIVE SURGERY.

By STEPHEN SMITH, A.M., M.D., Surgeon to Bellevue and St. Vincent Hospitals, New York.

Fully Illustrated. Crown 8vo, 689 pages, cloth, $4.00; roan, $4.50.

This is a handy book for practitioners, combining in a compact form all the essential matter of the larger works on surgery. It contains numerous illustrations, and a full index, which facilitates instant reference to all the details of operations.

The work of Dr. Smith is a very lucid and concise description of the expedients of modern operative surgery; full of hints and information. It is an excellent manual for students, and a most convenient book for surgeons. The illustrations are unusually clear. This book also has a good index, without which a treatise on any subject, however valuable and comprehensive, is like a cemetery without tombstones. — Prof. HENRY J. BIGELOW, Professor of Surgery in Harvard University, Surgeon of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

TO SHOW THE VALUE OF

NUTRITION

IN DEVELOPING LIFE AND CURING

CHRONIC DISEASES,

THE

MURDOCK LIQUID FOOD CO.,

BOSTON, HAVE ESTABLISHED A

FREE HOSPITAL

Of Seventy Beds. Forty Beds for Infants.

Not a case of Cholera-Infantum known during the last three years where LIQUID FOOD has been used; nor a death from Cholera-Infantum when prescribed by a physician.

The ablest writers on Cholera-Infantum recognize it now as milk-poisoning, showing the cause of the great mortality in infants brought up by hand.

Mothers, remember this. If your baby does not thrive do not change its food, but add 5 to 20 drops of LIQUID FOOD at each feeding; also, if nursing, take yourself 4 teaspoonfuls daily.

Any married lady who cannot retain her food, or has lost a child under one year old that was brought up by hand, can have a bed assigned her free for four months, at our hospital, which will build up her system, enabling her to retain her food in a few days, and nourish her child. She can have her own family physician, if preferred.

When mothers nourish their babies the mortality and sickness will be reduced 75 per cent.

Thirty Beds for Women with Chronic Diseases.

TREATMENT:

MURDOCK'S LIQUID FOOD AND COMMON FOOD.

Any physician who has a worthy case that will not yield to treatment can have a bed assigned if any are vacant.

Any physician can visit our hospital from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M. daily, by applying at our office.

Patients can receive any clergyman they may prefer. Our attending physicians are members of the Massachusetts and Suffolk District Medical Societies.

Monthly reports will be published of the condition of all patients.

At the request of any physician who has not tried our Extract, and would like to do so, we will deliver sample bottle to the express in Boston, free. We will also send, free by mail, (or ask your druggist for them,) essays from medical societies and testimonials from hospitals and physicians of chronic cases treated with LIQUID FOOD.

LIQUID FOOD is Beef, Mutton, and Fruits, raw, condensed many fold, and free of insoluble matter. It can be retained when the stomach is so weak that it will refuse water, furnishing nutrition without the labor of digestion, making blood faster than all preparations known. It is the only food that will relieve the consumptive from hunger.

PREFACE.

The Medical Register for New England is once more placed before the Public, — with increased material and with the various changes which are called for by the lapse of time.

The Author again calls attention to the fact that the book contains a large amount of information, in a condensed form, which is indispensable to every member of the medical and allied professions, and which it would cost its readers much time and trouble to find for themselves. The present edition of the book has been issued in answer to urgent requests from many of its former patrons, who recognize its value. Much labor and time have been expended in the preparation of the new edition: it is put forth for the good of the profession, and the Author asks that it may receive a generous support.

ASSOCIATIONS AND SOCIETIES.

American Medical Association.

In May, 1846, a convention of medical men was held in the city of New York, which declared it expedient for the medical profession of the United States to institute a National Medical Association. In May, 1847, the convention assembled at Philadelphia, reorganized, and, having adopted a series of regulations, became known as "The American Medical Association." Its first annual meeting was convened in Baltimore, May 2, 1848; and, since that time, with the exception of the years 1861 and 1862, annual sessions have been held in large cities in different parts of the country.

Delegates may be appointed to the association from permanently organized state medical societies, and such county and district medical societies as are recognized by representation in their respective state societies, and from the Medical Department of the Army and Navy of the United States. Persons who have served in the capacity of delegates become permanent members, and are privileged to attend the meetings and participate in the affairs of the association, but without the right of voting. Any reputable physician, who is vouched for as such by three of the active or permanent members, can attend the meetings of the association, and is entitled to participate in all its affairs, as in the case of delegates, except the right to vote.

Each state, county, and district medical society, entitled to representation, has the privilege of sending to the association one delegate for every ten of its regular resident members, and one for every additional fraction of more than half that number.

The medical staffs of the army and navy are entitled to four delegates each.

The meetings of the association are held annually, and commence on the first Tuesday in May, or first Tuesday in June.

The sum of five dollars is assessed annually upon each delegate to the sessions of the association, as well as upon each of the permanent members, whether present or not. Permanent members who, for three years, fail to pay this assessment, are stricken from the roll of membership.

A Judicial Council, consisting of twenty-one members, is intrusted with the decision of all questions of an ethical or judicial character. The decisions of this Council are final.

A prize is offered annually by a committee of the association for essays on medical subjects. (See article on Prizes.)

The thirty-third volume of the Transactions was published in November, 1882. In place of the annual volume of Transactions a weekly Journal has been issued since July, 1883, at a subscription price of five dollars. Address, 65 Randolph Street, Chicago, Ill.

Association of Medical Superintendents of American Institutions for the Insane.

The association was formed in Philadelphia in 1844, for the discussion of and consultation upon all matters pertaining to the welfare, best care, management, and medical and moral treatment of the insane. Past and present medical superintendents of all institutions for the insane, both public and private, throughout the American continent, are entitled to membership. About eighty hospitals are represented, and the association includes one hundred and twenty members.

The meetings are held annually, in May or June, at such places as may be agreed on by vote of the association.

The Transactions of the society are published in the "American Journal of Insanity."

Organized and incorporated in July, 1876, "to disseminate information concerning the metric system; to urge its early adoption, and to bring about its introduction wherever practicable. To this end it will secure the delivery of addresses, publish articles, circulate books, pamphlets, and charts; distribute scales and measures; introduce the practical teaching of the system in the schools; and, in all proper ways, as far as the means at its disposal will allow, the Bureau will urge the matter upon the attention of the American people, till they shall join the rest of the world in the exclusive use of the international decimal weights and measures." It has secured the delivery of several hundred addresses, and has distributed, mostly gratuitously, over two million pages of explanations of the system and its advantages. A fund of seven thousand dollars was loaned by friends of the system, to aid in the manufacture and distribution, at the lowest possible cost, of everything needed to teach, introduce, or use the international measures. This department has distributed over one hundred thousand metric articles throughout the country. Not only members of the Bureau, but all interested, are supplied at the lowest rates, which, for the majority of articles, is from one half to three fourths the retail price.

The Bureau has its main offices at 32 Hawley Street, from which branch depositories throughout the country are supplied. At these offices is the largest collection in the world of different articles pertaining to the metric system, numbering over one thousand, free for consultation to all interested. The collection embraces not only the actual weights and measures, thermometers, barometers, scales, etc., as used in metric countries, but also all useful apparatus or publications for teaching or introducing the system.

Membership in the society is open to any person of good moral character. The annual assessment is two dollars, and twenty dollars pays for life-membership. There are also Associates, who pay five dollars annually, and Fellows, who pay ten dollars annually. The Bureau has now about four hundred members, of whom many are physicians.

The Bureau publishes the "Metric Advocate," and sundry documents of interest and value, which will be sent to physicians and others interested, on application.

Massachusetts Medical Society.

The Massachusetts Medical Society was formed in 1781, with power to elect officers, examine and license candidates for practice, hold real estate, and "continue as a body politic and corporate by the same name forever." In June, 1782, after several preparatory meetings, by-laws were enacted, a common seal adopted, the society organized, and Dr. Edward A. Holyoke of Salem chosen the first president.

In 1790 the first publication of the society was issued; the second appeared in 1804, and the third in 1806.

The society is intended to include all regular physicians practising medicine within the Commonwealth, and admission takes place according to the following prescribed laws of the State and the society: —

"Any person of good moral character, found to possess the qualifications prescribed by the Rules and Regulations of the Society, shall, upon examination by the Censors, and not otherwise, be admitted a Fellow; and the Fellows shall have power to suspend, expel, or disfranchise any Fellow of the Society." [1]

The by-laws of the society referred to in the special law of the State are as follows: —

"Every candidate for admission into the MASSACHUSETTS MEDICAL SOCIETY must, by proper credentials and examination, satisfy the Censors of said society that he possesses the following qualifications for fellowship: —

"That he is not less than twenty-one years of age; that he is of sound mind and good moral character; that he has a good general English education; that he has a knowledge of the principles of experimental philosophy; that he has such an acquaintance with the Latin language as is necessary for a good medical and surgical education; that he has studied medicine and surgery three full years under the direction, and attended the practice, of some reputable regularly educated physician or physicians; that he has attended two terms of study, or two full courses of lectures in separate years, at an authorized medical school, recognized by the Councillors of said society, and possesses a diploma or its equivalent from such school; that he does not profess to cure diseases by, nor intend to practise, spiritualism, homœopathy, allopathy, Thompsonianism, eclecticism, or any other irregular or exclusive system, generally recognized as such by the profession or declared so by the Councillors of said society; and by a further examination, a part of which shall be in writing, that he has an adequate knowledge of anatomy, pathological anatomy, physiology, general and medical chemistry, materia medica, therapeutics, midwifery, the theory and practice of medicine, clinical medicine, surgery, clinical surgery, hygiene, and public hygiene.

"If successful in such an examination as to his credentials, character, personal and professional qualifications, to the satisfaction of at least three of the Censors present, the candidate, after paying the District Treasurer the assessment for the current year and signing the By-laws, shall receive a certificate of membership (Digest xxvi., xxvii.), and be enrolled a Fellow of the society.

"A candidate may be examined at any stated meeting of Censors; but if the examination be unsatisfactory, he shall not be re-examined by any Board of Censors in less than six months afterwards. (xx., xxi.)" [1]

Application for examination or re-examination must be made to the secretary of the society of the district in which the candidate resides.

To prevent misunderstanding with regard to admission into the Massachusetts Medical Society: —

"Resolved, By the Councillors, with the concurrence of the society, —

"That the only courses of lectures recognized are those of regularly organized medical colleges, empowered to confer the degree of M. D., — courses embracing the several branches enumerated in By-law I.;

"That tickets or diplomas of botanic, eclectic, or homœopathic colleges, or of colleges devoted to any peculiar or exclusive system of medicine, are considered irregular, and will not be recognized under any circumstances.

"And, That certificates from teachers who practise any peculiar or exclusive system of medicine, who advertise, or who violate in any way the code of ethics adopted by the profession in this State, will not be taken, even though the teacher himself be a regular graduate in medicine." [2]

[2] Councillors' Proceedings and Society's Proceedings, October 7, 1874.

The Censors of Suffolk District (who are empowered to act for the society, and to examine all those who have not a residence in some other district of the State) meet in Boston on the Thursday next preceding the annual meeting of the society, and on the Thursdays before the last Saturday of September and of February; but they cannot examine any candidate who is already a resident, or in practice, in any district except their own. The Censors of the other districts meet at the same place and on the same day as the district societies to which they belong.

Any Fellow who has arrived at the age of sixty-five years, has paid all his assessments, or has been excused from them, and has notified the Treasurer of the society thereof in writing, may, on recommendation of a committee and by a vote of the Councillors, become a Retired Member. He shall be entitled to all the privileges of a Fellow, and shall conform to all the requirements of the society, and be subject to all its penalties, except that he shall not be liable to assessments, nor be bound to accept any office in the society.

Any Fellow removing out of the State may have liberty to retain his Fellowship so long, and only so long, as he punctually pays the annual assessment.

Any one who has retired or resigned, or lost his Fellowship by removal from the State, may, on application in writing, be restored to full Fellowship by the vote of the Councillors at any Stated Meeting.

Any Fellow, whose dues have been paid or remitted, may, on written application and for satisfactory reasons, first examined and reported upon by a committee, be allowed to resign Fellowship and to withdraw from the society by a vote of the Councillors.

The Massachusetts Medical Society includes seventeen district societies, all of which are under the control of the parent society.

The district societies appoint their own officers and establish regulations for their particular government, not repugnant to the by-laws of the general society; and are empowered to hold and dispose of books, instruments, and other personal property, exclusive of any authority of the general society. Together, the societies contain nearly 1500 members.

The annual meeting of the society is held on such Wednesday in May or June, and at such place, as the Councillors shall from year to year determine. Ten members of the society constitute a quorum.

The district societies hold their annual meetings for election between the fifteenth of April and the fifteenth of May, and at least ten days before the annual meeting of the society.

The Councillors meet on the day preceding the annual meeting, and on the first Wednesday in October and February. Nine Councillors constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but a smaller number may adjourn the meeting.

The Proceedings of the society, and the annual address, are, as a rule, published each year. Members of the society also receive a copy of Braithwaite's "Retrospect of Medicine and Surgery," at the expense of the society.

The following Code of Ethics was adopted by the Councillors, Feb. 4, 1880: —

Object of a Code of Ethics. — The Massachusetts Medical Society is designed to secure to the public a body of well-educated and otherwise trustworthy physicians. Its code of ethics is intended to furnish certain principles and rules of action for their guidance and convenience.

I. The Relation of the Physician to Medical Science. — A physician should lend his influence to encourage sound medical education, and to uphold in the community correct views of the powers and the limitations of medical science and art.

II. The Relation of the Physician to Medical Business.—The professional success of a practitioner depends upon qualities connected with his moral character, his scientific attainments, and also his industry and business talent. But the relation of practitioners of medicine to families and households is not like that of tradesmen to their customers. The kind of competition which might be considered honorable in business cannot exist between physicians without diminishing their usefulness and lowering the standing of the medical profession. (See IV. § 1; V. § 1.)

III. The Relation of the Physician to his Patients.—The first duty of the practising physician is to his patient, who has a right to expect that his disease shall be thoroughly investigated and skilfully treated, with charitable consideration for his mental peculiarities or infirmities, and in a relation strictly confidential.

1. The physician should not make unnecessary visits. He should neither permit needless apprehension, nor fail to give seasonable notice of danger.

IV. The Relation of the Physician to other Practitioners and to their Patients.—In his relations with another medical practitioner and his patients, a physician should be governed by strict rules of honor and courtesy. His conduct should be such as, if universally imitated, would insure the mutual confidence of all medical practitioners.

The foregoing rule should be a sufficient guide of action. Some of the following contingencies will illustrate its application:—

1. A physician should take no step with a view directly or indirectly to divert to himself the patient or practice of another physician.

2. If formally requested to assume charge of a patient or family usually attended by another physician, he should consent to do so only after notifying the latter, — unless the case be one of pressing necessity.

3. If a physician is called to a patient during the temporary absence or illness of the usual physician, or in case of accident or other emergency, he should direct that the former be sent for as soon as he is able to take charge of the case, and should then relinquish it to him. It is generally agreed that, among several physicians thus called, he who first arrives shall act, unless the family designate another.

4. A communication from the temporary to the usual physician, in the absence of the latter, should be written and sealed, and not simply verbal.

V. The Relations of the Physician to Quackery. — In every community there are minds naturally inclined to quackery, which has flourished in every age. It grows by being noticed, and thrives best under opposition. It is commonly unwise to employ argument against it. But a physician should lend his influence to establish a distinct line between the regular practice of medicine and the practice of quackery, and should avoid any act which might tend to weaken such a distinction either in the professional or in the public mind.

1. Thus, he should not consult with an irregular practitioner; nor countenance the use of secret remedies; nor be interested in medical trade-marked preparations; nor give certificates recommending mineral waters, patents, or medical preparations, or the like; nor give a commission to an apothecary, nor receive one from him; nor advertise himself or his practice in public print; nor publicly advertise advice or medicines to the poor, etc.

VI. Consultations. — Consultation should be encouraged in cases of unusual responsibility or doubt.

A consultation is called for the benefit of the patient, and to give him the advantage of collective skill. Should there be a difference of opinion, discussion should be temperate, and always confidential.

A consulting physician should be careful to say or do nothing to impair the confidence of the patient or his family in the attending physician.

1. See, for guidance of a consultant, IV. §§ 1, 2, 3, 4.

2. At a consultation, punctuality is important; and non-arrival within fifteen minutes after the appointed time should be interpreted as non-attendance.

3. For the advantage of the patient, and for economy of time, it is well in a consultation to observe a certain order of business. The following has been found convenient: —

The attending physician, having stated in general terms the nature of the case, may then call, in turn, upon each consultant, if there be more than one, to examine the patient, — the usual order being that of seniority. No consultant should make an examination or inquiry out of turn. On retiring, the attending physician may invite, in the usual order, the opinion of each consultant, who should not be interrupted while giving it; after which he may add his own. In conclusion a course of action may be agreed on, or the attending physician may be left to act at his own discretion.

VII. Fees. — A fee-table has a local application, and is designed to indicate a fair or average amount due for services. But if the patient fully understands it beforehand, a physician is at liberty to place any value he sees fit upon his services. It is then at the patient's option to decline them or to pay the price. A physician should be considerate of the poor.

1. A patient in moderate circumstances should not be called on to pay a fee unusually large for the service rendered, without a previous explicit understanding. A physician, if able, should offer to pay the medical attendant of himself or his family. Unless by special agreement, a physician attending or acting for another should receive the fees. Among obstetricians a rule obtains that the interval between the birth of the child and of the placenta halves the service and the fee. A fee should be charged for a medical certificate or paper of value to the applicant, — connected, for example, with absence or exemption, life insurance, pension papers, etc.; except the usual certificates of vaccination and death.

VIII. Seniority. — Seniority applies rather to duration of practice at the place in question, than to age.

Massachusetts Medico-Legal Society.

Organized July 9, 1877. Its purposes are to elevate the official character of the medical examiner, and to assist him in the discharge of his duties; to collect and utilize such facts as have a medico-legal value; to excite a general interest in the subject of forensic medicine, and to promote its successful cultivation.

The society consists of regular and associate members. Regular members consist of such members of the Massachusetts Medical Society and of the Massachusetts Bar as shall be duly chosen in the manner provided by the by-laws, provided, however, that at least two thirds of such regular members shall hold commissions as medical examiners in the State. The expiration, without renewal, of the commission of a medical examiner terminates his regular membership.

The society may also, at any stated meeting, elect to permanent associate membership such persons, versed in medical, legal, or technical science, as may be recommended by the proper committee.

The president, the vice-president, the treasurer, and the two secretaries constitute an executive board, whose duty it is to carry out the purposes of the society as expressed by its by-laws or its votes.

The business of the society is managed and the expenses paid by the regular members. The associate members attend only those meetings to which they are invited, and then have full liberty to participate in all scientific or professional discussions, and to present communications. A fee of two dollars is paid by each regular member at the time of his admission; assessments are made from time to time, as required to meet the expenses of the society.

The stated meetings are held on the same day and at same place as the stated meetings of the Councillors of the Massachusetts Medical Society; the annual meeting being on the same day as the annual meeting of said Councillors. Special meetings may be called by authority of the executive board, and must be so called upon a written request of five regular members.

Every member is required to forward to the corresponding secretary a report as full and complete as possible of each case which receives his official attention.

The executive board is required to use all the honorable means which they can command for the purpose of preventing the confirmation and appointment of any incompetent or unworthy person as medical examiner.

The Transactions of the society are published annually.

Massachusetts Dental Society.

This organization was formed in May, 1864, and received an act of incorporation from the Legislature in April, 1865. Its object is to cultivate the science and art of dentistry and all its collateral branches, by means of a library and museum, professional lectures, and publications, and by premiums and medals for original researches and discoveries; to elevate and sustain the professional character of dentists, and to promote among them mutual improvement, social intercourse, and good-will.

It includes active, junior, corresponding, and honorary members. Active members consist of practitioners of dentistry living in the State of Massachusetts. They must be twenty-one years of age, of good moral character, and have received a diploma from a respectable medical or dental college, or have been five years in the practice of dentistry, including term of pupilage. Junior members consist of students of dentistry and dentists not eligible to active membership. Corresponding members consist of practitioners of dentistry living in other States of the Union, or in foreign countries, who manifest a disposition to advance the science and art of the profession by contributing to its literature.

Honorary memberships are conferred by the society on distinguished members of the profession, and others who may merit the distinction.

The fee for admission to the society is two dollars. Annual members pay an annual assessment of two dollars. Junior members pay only the admission fee. Corresponding and honorary members are exempt from the payment of all dues; and as a mark of distinction for long-continued service in the profession, by special action of the society, the dues of an active member may be remitted.

The annual meeting of the society is held in Boston, on the second Thursday in December, and is of two days' continuance. The semi-annual meeting is held at such time, and in such town or city in Massachusetts, as may be determined by the society. Ten active members are necessary to constitute a quorum.

Massachusetts Medical Benevolent Society.

The organization of this society dates from 1857; in 1871 it received an act of incorporation from the Legislature of Massachusetts. It has for its object the relief of its members, or of their families, should they need assistance; and of such other members of the medical profession or their families as may be deemed by the society suitable objects of its beneficence.

It includes in its list of members physicians from all parts of the State. The Council of the society, to whom are intrusted the care of the funds and the distribution of its charities, are desirous of making the institution more widely useful, by extending its assistance to a larger number of beneficiaries. In order to widen the circle of their charities, they desire to add largely to their numbers; and physicians, who may be willing to aid a charity of such importance, are invited to become its members. It is also desirable that cases of destitution among the members of the profession may be brought to the notice of the officers, so that measures may be at once taken for their relief.

The fee paid on entering the society is three dollars; and the annual assessment is two dollars. The payment of twenty-five dollars at one time, or of the annual assessment for twenty successive years, constitutes one a life-member, and at his option relieves him from future payments. The donation of fifty dollars or more at one time entitles the donor to be inscribed among the benefactors of the society.

The annual meeting is held on the last Thursday in October of each year. The society celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary October 26, 1882, at Young's Hotel in Boston.

The Council holds its meetings on the last Thursday in January, April, and July.

Boston Medical Association.

A large number of the regular physicians of Boston are united in this association, for the purpose of regulating the medical police of the city, and establishing the fee-table. It was organized in 1806; and in 1808 adopted certain principles of government, which remain to-day as the foundation of a code governing all regular practitioners established in the city.

The annual meeting of the association is held at 19 Boylston Place, on the first Monday in May.

Each member pays the sum of one dollar on joining the association.

The fee-table of the association is given at a later page of this volume.

The code adopted in 1808 is given in full: —

CONSULTATIONS.

Consultations should be encouraged in difficult and protracted cases, as they give rise to confidence, energy, and more enlarged views in practice. On such occasions no rivalship or jealousy should be indulged; candor, justice, and all due respect should be exercised towards the physician who first attended; and, as he may be presumed to be best acquainted with the patient and his family, he should deliver all the medical directions as agreed upon. It should be the province, however, of the senior consulting physician to propose the necessary questions to the sick.

The consulting physician is never to visit without the attending one, unless by the desire of the latter, or when as in sudden emergency, he is not to be found. No discussion of the case should take place before the patient or his friends; and no prognostications should be delivered which were not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence. Theoretical debates, indeed, should generally be avoided in consultation, as occasioning perplexity and the loss of time; for there may be much diversity of opinion on speculative points, with perfect agreement on those modes of practice which are founded, not on hypothesis, but on experience and observation. Physicians in consultations, whatever may be their private resentments or opinions of one another, should divest themselves of all partialities, and think of nothing but what will most effectually contribute to the relief of those under their care.

If a physician cannot lay his hand to his heart and say that his mind is perfectly open to conviction, from whatever quarter it may come, he should in honor decline the consultation.

All discussions and debates in consultations are to be held secret and confidential.

Many advantages may arise from two consulting together, who are men of candor, and have mutual confidence in each other's honor. A remedy may occur to one which did not to another; and a physician may want resolution, or a confidence in his own opinion, to prescribe a powerful but precarious remedy, on which, however, the life of his patient may depend; in this case a concurrent opinion may fix his own. But when such mutual confidence is wanting a consultation had better be declined, especially if there is reason to believe that sentiments delivered with openness are to be communicated abroad, or to the family concerned, and if in consequence of this, either gentleman is to be made responsible for the event.

The utmost punctuality should be observed in consultation visits; and to avoid loss of time it will be expedient to establish the space of fifteen minutes as an allowance for delay, after which the meeting might be considered as postponed for a new appointment.

INTERFERENCES.

Medicine is a liberal profession; the practitioners are, or ought to be, men of education; and their expectations of business and employment should be founded on their degrees of qualification, not on artifice and insinuation. A certain undefinable species of assiduities and attentions, therefore, to families usually employing another, is to be considered as beneath the dignity of a regular practitioner, and as making a mere trade of a learned profession; and all officious interferences, in cases of sickness in such families, evince a meanness of disposition, unbecoming the character of a physician or a gentleman. No meddling inquiries should be made concerning them, nor hints given relative to their nature and treatment, nor any selfish conduct pursued, that may, directly or indirectly, tend to weaken confidence in the physicians or surgeons who have the care of them.

When a physician is called to a patient who has been under the care of another gentleman of the Faculty, before any examination of the case, he should ascertain whether that gentleman understands that the patient is no longer under his care; and, unless this be the case, the second physician is not to assume the charge of the patient, nor to give his advice — excepting in instances of sudden attacks — without a regular consultation; and if such previously attending gentleman has been dismissed, or has voluntarily relinquished the patient, his practice should be treated with candor, and justified so far as probity and truth will permit; for the want of success in the primary treatment of the disorder is no impeachment of professional skill and knowledge.

It frequently happens that a physician, in incidental communications with the patients of others, or with their friends, may have their cases stated to him in so direct a manner as not to admit of his declining to pay attention to them. Under such circumstances his observations should be delivered with the most delicate propriety and reserve. He should not interfere in the curative plans pursued, and should even recommend a steady adherence to them, if they appear to merit approbation.

DIFFERENCES OF PHYSICIANS.

The differences of physicians, when they end in appeals to the public, generally hurt the contending parties; but, what is of more consequence, they discredit the profession and expose the Faculty itself to contempt and ridicule. Whenever such differences occur as may affect the honor and dignity of the profession, and cannot immediately be terminated, or do not come under the character of violation of the special rules of the association otherwise provided for, they should be referred to the arbitration of a sufficient number of members of the association, according to the nature of the dispute; but neither the subject-matter of such references, nor the adjudication, should, if it can be avoided, be communicated to the public, as they may be personally injurious to the individuals concerned, and can hardly fail to hurt the general credit of the Faculty.

DISCOURAGEMENT OF QUACKERY.[1]

The use of quack medicines should be discouraged by the Faculty as disgraceful to the profession, injurious to health, and often destructive even of life. No physician or surgeon, therefore, should dispense a secret nostrum, whether it be his invention or exclusive property; for, if it is of real efficacy, the concealment of it is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality; and, if mystery alone give it value and importance, such craft implies either disgraceful ignorance or fraudulent avarice.

CONDUCT FOR THE SUPPORT OF THE MEDICAL CHARACTER.

The esprit de corps is a principle of action founded in human nature, and, when duly regulated, is both rational and laudable. Every man who enters into a fraternity

[1] At a meeting of the Councillors of the Massachusetts Medical Society, held February 3, 1858, the following resolutions were adopted: —

Resolved, That the Massachusetts Medical Society deem it dishonorable in its Fellows to append their names in any way recommendatory of secret or quack remedies, and any Fellow so exhibiting his name shall be considered as acting in a manner derogatory to the dignity of a Fellow of this society.

Resolved, That if any physician or chemist, through inadvertence or misapprehension, shall have been induced to give his recommendation or authority in any way to promote the circulation or sale of any secret or empirical medicine, he shall be expected publicly to disclaim or revoke the same.

Resolved, That the Fellows of the Massachusetts Medical Society regard with disapprobation and abhorrence all attempts to procure abortion, except in cases where it may be necessary for the preservation of the mother's life.

Resolved, That when any Fellow of this society shall become cognizant of any attempt unlawfully to procure abortion, either by persons in the profession or out of it, it shall be the duty of such Fellow immediately to lodge information with some proper legal officer, to the end that such information may lead to the exposure and conviction of the offender.

Resolved, That no person convicted of an attempt to procure criminal abortion can, consistently with its by-laws, any longer remain a Fellow of this society.

engages, by a tacit compact, not only to submit to the laws, but to promote the honor and interests of the association, so far as they are consistent with morality and the general good of mankind. A physician, therefore, should cautiously guard against whatever may injure the general respectability of the profession, and should avoid all contumelious representations of the Faculty at large, all general charges against their selfishness or improbity, or the indulgence of an affected or jocular skepticism concerning the efficacy and utility of the healing art.

FEES.

General rules are adopted by the Faculty, in every town, relative to the pecuniary acknowledgments of their patients; and it should be deemed a point of honor to adhere to them; and every deviation from, or evasion of, these rules should be considered as meriting the indignation and contempt of the fraternity.

Gratuitous services to the poor are by no means prohibited; the characteristic beneficence of the profession is inconsistent with sordid views and avaricious rapacity. The poor of every description should be the objects of our peculiar care. Dr. Boerhaave used to say they were his best patients, because God was their paymaster.

It is obvious, also, that an average fee, as suited to the general rank of patients, must be an inadequate compensation from the rich (who often require attendance not absolutely necessary), and yet too large to be expected from that class of citizens who would feel a reluctance in calling for assistance, without making some decent and satisfactory remuneration.

EXEMPTION FROM CHARGES.

All members of the medical profession, together with their families, should be attended gratuitously; but visits should not be obtruded officiously, as such civility may give rise to embarrassments, or interfere with that choice on which confidence depends.

But distant members of the Faculty, when they request attendance, should be expected at least to defray the charges of travelling.

Omission to charge, on account of the wealthy circumstances of the physician, is an injury to the profession, as it is defrauding, in a degree, the common funds for its support, when fees are dispensed with which might justly be claimed.

VICARIOUS OFFICES.

Whenever a physician officiates for another by his desire, in consequence of sickness or absence, if for a short time only, the attendance should be performed gratuitously as to the physician, and with the utmost delicacy towards the professional character of the gentleman previously connected with the patient.

SENIORITY.

A regular and academical education furnishes the only presumptive evidence of professional ability, and is so honorable and beneficial that it gives a just claim to pre-eminence among physicians at large, in proportion to the degree in which it may be enjoyed and improved. Nevertheless, as industry and talents may furnish exceptions to this general rule, and this method may be liable to difficulties in the application, seniority among practitioners of this town should be determined by the period of public and acknowledged practice as a physician or surgeon in the same. This arrangement, being clear and obvious, is adapted to remove all grounds of dispute among medical gentlemen; and it secures the regular continuance of the established order of precedency, which might otherwise be subject to troublesome interruptions by new settlers, perhaps not long stationary in the place.

Boston Society for Medical Observation.

Originally organized April 14, 1835; discontinued in 1838, and revived March 17, 1846. The society was formed on the plan of the Society for Medical Observation in Paris, of which Louis was president, "to make its members good observers of disease, to collect and arrange accurately recorded facts in furtherance of the cause of medical science, and to publish from time to time the results of the examination of such facts." The members are classed as active, associate, honorary, and corresponding.

The number of active members is limited to forty. Any member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, living in Boston, is eligible as a member. Active members must live within the limits of the city proper. Active or associate members of twenty years' standing may be elected honorary members. Corresponding members are elected from those who, having been active or associate members, have left the State, but still desire to retain their connection with the society. Active members, and honorary members who take the journals, pay an annual assessment of seven dollars; associate members four dollars. The payment of fifty dollars at one time constitutes one a life member.

The meetings are held at the Medical Library, 19 Boylston Place, the first Monday in each month, with the exception of July, August, and September. The proceedings are published in the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

Most of the leading European and American medical journals are taken by the society, and are circulated among the active and honorary members. The society has a library of about twelve hundred volumes, including complete sets of medical periodicals and other valuable works, which is now deposited at the rooms of the Medical Library Association.

The annual meeting for the election of officers is held the first Monday in April. The semi-annual election of members takes place the first Monday in April and December.

Maine Medical Association.

A preliminary meeting was held at Brunswick, Maine, April 28, 1853, to organize an association for professional improvement, the cultivation of friendly intercourse between its members, the faithful support of regular and honorable practice, and the promotion of medical science. The first annual meeting was held in Augusta on the 1st of the following June, when a board of permanent officers was chosen. The association was incorporated by the Legislature in March, 1855.

Any person in good standing in the profession, a resident of the State of Maine, who is a graduate of any medical school legally entitled to grant diplomas, may become a member on certifying these requirements to the Board of Censors, signing the by-laws, and paying the initiation fee of five dollars. Those members who have arrived at the age of seventy years, and have notified the treasurer of the association of the same in writing, having paid all their assessments, or having been excused from the same; also those members who by reason of ill health have been obliged to retire from the practice of the profession, may become retired members. They retain all the privileges previously enjoyed, but do not pay assessments. Members whose dues have been paid or remitted may, on written application, be allowed to withdraw from the association.

The Censors constitute a Board of Trial, for the purpose of acting on any charges brought against a member, with the power to pass such sentence as in their judgment may seem just.

Twenty-five members of the association constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

The annual meeting is holden on such day in June, and in such place as the Censors may determine; semi-annual or quarterly meetings may be called at any time by the President, upon application being made by ten or more members.

The annual assessment is two dollars. The Transactions of the association, with the scientific papers read at the annual meeting, are published each year.

The county societies of Maine have no connection with the State society.

Connecticut Medical Society.

Organized in 1791, and incorporated by the Legislature in 1870. The society includes eight county associations, all of which are under the control of the parent society and constitute its local branches. They are known by the name of the counties in which they are situated, and each association includes all members of the Connecticut Medical Society within its limits. Eminent physicians not living in the State may be elected to honorary membership.

Previous to 1793 Yale College conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Medicine. From 1793 to 1813, inclusive, honorary degrees were conferred by the Connecticut Medical Society, in accordance with its charter; and during that time the honorary degree of Doctor of Medicine was not conferred by Yale College in any case, so far as can be ascertained. When the Medical College was organized and went into operation, the Medical Society, by agreement with Yale College, ceased to act independently in conferring degrees.

The charter of the Medical College, after providing for degrees to be conferred by examination, provided that "The President of the College may also confer the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Medicine upon those persons whom the President and Fellows of the Medical Society shall recommend for that purpose."

The superintendence and management of the society are vested in a body known as the "President and Fellows of the Connecticut Medical Society," consisting of the officers of the society proper, for the time being, and of five members each from the Hartford, New Haven, New London, Fairfield, Windham, and Litchfield county societies, and three each from Middlesex and Tolland.

Members are admitted through the county associations. No one is admitted to membership unless he shall have received the degree of Doctor of Medicine, or have been admitted ad eundem, from such medical authorities as this society shall deem proper to recognize. He must also reside and practise in the county in which his application is made. All members have the privilege of attending the meetings of the President and Fellows, and enjoy all the privileges except that of voting. The payment of the annual tax is optional with all members over sixty years of age.

Any member of the society who shall make, vend, or publicly recommend, or who is directly or indirectly interested in the manufacture, use, or sale of any nostrum or patent medicine, shall not be eligible to any office, and is liable to be suspended from the privileges of the society, or to expulsion.

No member of the society shall hold professional consultation or intercourse with any other than licensed physicians and surgeons in regular standing.

The annual meeting of the President and Fellows is held on the day preceding the annual convention of the society, and in the same city where the convention is held. The convention is held on the Thursday following the fourth Wednesday in May, alternately at Hartford and New Haven. The annual meetings of the county associations are held at such times and places as may be agreed on by them, provided the annual meeting shall be at least four weeks before the fourth Wednesday in May.

The proceedings of the society are published annually. The annual assessment never exceeds five dollars.

The nomination to professorships in the Medical Institution of Yale College, since the year 1810, has been made by a joint committee of an equal number of persons appointed by the President and Fellows of Yale College and the President and Fellows of the society.

The Superintendent of the Retreat for the Insane has been nominated in like manner since 1823.

MEDICAL SCHOOLS AND KINDRED INSTITUTIONS.

MEDICAL SCHOOLS AND KINDRED INSTITUTIONS.

Medical Department of Harvard University.

Boylston Street, Boston, Mass.

Instruction in this School is given by lectures, recitations, clinical teaching, and practical exercises, uniformly distributed throughout the academic year. The year begins on the Thursday following the last Wednesday in September, and ends on the last Wednesday in June. There is a recess at Christmas, beginning December 23, and ending January 2; and a spring recess, beginning on the Wednesday before Fast Day, and ending on the following Tuesday, inclusive.

The course of study recommended by the Faculty covers four years, but the degree of Doctor of Medicine is given upon the completion of three years of study, as heretofore. The degree of Doctor of Medicine cum laude is given to candidates who have pursued a complete four years' course, and obtained an average of seventy-five per cent in all the examinations of this course. In addition to the ordinary degree of Doctor of Medicine, a certificate of attendance on the studies of the fourth year is given to such students desiring it as shall have attended the course, and have passed a satisfactory examination in the studies of the same.

A new building has just been completed at a cost of more than a quarter of a million of dollars. Its numerous apartments are spacious, well lighted, and provided with carefully contrived apparatus for heating and ventilation. The comfort and convenience of the students have been constantly borne in mind in the arrangement of rooms, the construction of seats, and in the furnishing of the various laboratories, halls for lectures, and rooms for recitation, study, and conversation. The building is devoted to laboratory instruction and didactic teaching, while the general and special clinics take place at the various hospitals and dispensaries. Greatly enlarged and improved facilities are offered at the Massachusetts General Hospital and the Boston Dispensary, both of which institutions have constructed buildings to meet the constantly increasing demands for their usefulness.

Requisites for Admission. — All candidates for admission, except those who have passed an examination for admission to Harvard College, must present a degree in Letters, Science, or Medicine, from a recognized college or scientific school, or pass an examination in the following subjects: —

1. English. Every candidate will be required to write, legibly and correctly, an English composition of not less than two hundred words, and also to write English prose from dictation.

2. Latin. The translation of easy Latin prose.

3. Physics. A competent knowledge of Physics (such as may be obtained from Balfour Stewart's Elements of Physics).

4. Elective Subject. Each candidate must pass an approved examination in any one of the following subjects: French, German, the Elements of Algebra or of Plane Geometry, Botany.

Whenever the candidate shall give evidence of having passed a satisfactory examination in any of the above requirements either at Harvard College or at the Lawrence Scientific School, a subsequent examination in such subjects will not be demanded for his admission to the Medical School.

DIVISION OF STUDIES.

For the first year. — Anatomy, Physiology, and General Chemistry.

For the second year. — Practical and Topographical Anatomy, Medical Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pathological Anatomy, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and Clinical Surgery.

For the third year. — Therapeutics, Obstetrics, Theory and Practice of Medicine, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, and Clinical Surgery.

For the fourth year. — Ophthalmology, Otology, Dermatology, Syphilis, Laryngology, Mental Diseases, Diseases of the Nervous System, Diseases of Women, Diseases of Children, Obstetrics, Clinical and Operative Obstetrics, Clinical Medicine, Clinical and Operative Surgery, Forensic Medicine.

THREE YEARS' COURSE.

For the first year. — Anatomy, Physiology, and General Chemistry.

For the second year. — Practical and Topographical Anatomy, Medical Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pathological Anatomy, Clinical Medicine, and Clinical Surgery.

For the third year. — Therapeutics, Obstetrics, Theory and Practice of Medicine, Clinical Medicine, Surgery, Clinical Surgery, Ophthalmology, Dermatology, Syphilis, Otology, Laryngology, Mental Diseases, Diseases of the Nervous System, Diseases of Women, Diseases of Children, Forensic Medicine.

The following methods of instruction are adopted in the several departments: —

Anatomy. — Lectures; various practical exercises, including abundant dissection, under the direction of the Demonstrator; recitations and demonstrations; histology, and embryology. The histological department has been reorganized, and the laboratories have been placed under the charge of special instructors. General class instruction in the use of the microscope and in practical histology is offered to the first-year students. Accommodations will be provided for those students who wish to pursue special or advanced courses. Microscopes are provided for those whose means do not permit their purchasing their own instruments.

Physiology. — Lectures, recitations, conferences, and practical demonstrations in the Laboratory. To students of the second, third, and fourth classes, opportunities are given for original investigations in the Laboratory.

Chemistry is taught mainly by practical work in the Laboratory, the student having his own desk and apparatus. General Chemistry and qualitative analysis are taught during the first year. Besides the laboratory-work, there is a lecture and a recitation every week. In the second year medical chemistry is taught by lectures, recitations, and exercises in the Laboratory.

Pathological Anatomy is taught by lectures, recitations, and practical instruction in pathological histology. The collection of the Warren Anatomical Museum is used to illustrate the lectures, and many morbid specimens are shown in a fresh state. Students also receive practical instruction in the method of making autopsies, and are admitted to those made at both hospitals. Special classes in pathological histology, including the diagnosis of tumors, are formed for those who are provided with a microscope. Such students are required to prepare the various objects.

Materia Medica and Therapeutics. — Materia Medica is taught by lectures and recitations with exhibition of medicines and pharmaceutical processes. Besides the large cabinet of materia medica in the Museum, a complete collection of officinal drugs and chemicals and of all the important preparations is placed where it can be seen by the students at all times, and from it sets of samples illustrating each week's lecture will be loaned for study. Therapeutics, or the physiological action of drugs and their application to disease, is taught in the third year by lectures, recitations, and hospital exercises.

The Theory and Practice of Medicine. — Lectures, recitations, and hospital visits.

Clinical Medicine. — Daily instruction is given in this department by hospital visits and other exercises. Students are furnished with cases for personal examination, and are called upon to report them before the class, where they are criticised. These examinations are held both in the wards and in the amphitheatre. Clinical Conference affords an opportunity for more thorough preparation of cases. The full written report of a case is read by the student who has examined it. It is afterwards criticised by the class, by the Professor of Clinical Medicine, and other teachers in the school. In addition to this, a regular course of supplementary instruction is given in Auscultation and Percussion, and in Laryngoscopy, which affords students an abundant opportunity for acquiring a thoroughly practical knowledge of those methods of exploration.

Surgery. — Lectures and recitations. There are also courses on Surgical Anatomy, Minor Surgery, Surgical Histology, Bandaging, and Operative Surgery. In the latter, students of the third and fourth classes are supplied with material for repeating the usual surgical operations.

Obstetrics. — Lectures and recitations. Students are instructed in the usual operations on the manikin, and are required to take charge of cases of obstetrics in their third year. A course on operative obstetrics, with practical illustrations on the cadaver, is given.

Diseases of Women. — Lectures, recitations, and practical instruction at the different dispensaries in the education of the touch. Here also every facility is given the student to become familiar with the different forms of uterine disease. A course in operative gynæcology, extending throughout the year at the Free Hospital for Women, is open to students of the third and fourth classes. To students of the fourth class and to post-graduates cases are assigned for personal examination; these cases are reported in full at the clinical conference, and are made the subject of discussion by members of the class and the instructor. These students are also called upon to assist at the operations in the operative course.

Diseases of Children. — Lectures and clinical instruction.

Ophthalmology. — A complete course is delivered upon the diseases of the eye, including clinical instruction and the use of the ophthalmoscope.

Dermatology is taught by lectures and clinical illustrations. The special out-patient department at the Massachusetts General Hospital furnishes ample opportunities for illustration.

Syphilis. — Recitations and clinical instruction.

Otology. — Lectures and clinical instruction.

Larnygology. — Lectures and demonstrations.

Diseases of the Nervous System. — Lectures and demonstrations.

Forensic Medicine. — Lectures and demonstrations.

Embryology. — Lectures.

The Medical Department of the University is established in Boston in order to secure those advantages for clinical instruction which are found only in large cities. Students are admitted to the practice of the physicians and surgeons of the Massachusetts General Hospital, the Boston City Hospital, the Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, the Boston Dispensary, the Marine Hospital at Chelsea, the Free Hospital for Women, The Children's Hospital, and the Carney Hospital.

Hospital Appointments. — There are twenty-five appointments annually for Internes in the various hospitals, and as many more for Assistants in the out-patient departments. Appointments for the Massachusetts General and City Hospitals are for the term of eighteen months, for the Boston Lying-in Hospital for four months, and for the Free Hospital for Women for nine months.

The regular examinations are conducted in writing and are held at the end of each year in June, and a week before the opening of the School in September, on the studies of the preceding year.[1] They are held in the following order: —

At the end of the first year. — Anatomy, Physiology, and General Chemistry.

End of second year. — Topographical Anatomy, Medical Chemistry, Materia Medica, and Pathological Anatomy.

End of third year. — Therapeutics, Obstetrics,[2] Theory and Practice of Medicine, Surgery.[3]

[1] The June examination is for those only who are members of the School at the time, and for those entitled to apply for the degree.

[2] The examinations in Obstetrics and Surgery may be passed at the end of the fourth year if preferred.

End of fourth year. — Ophthalmology, Otology, Dermatology, Syphilis, Laryngology, Mental Diseases, Diseases of the Nervous System, Diseases of Women, Diseases of Children, Clinical and Operative Obstetrics, Clinical Medicine, Clinical and Operative Surgery, Forensic Medicine.

Students are divided into four classes, according to their time of study and proficiency, and during their last year will receive largely increased opportunities of instruction in the special branches mentioned. Students following the three years' course are classified as heretofore, and the instruction in the special branches is of the same character as that which has been given for several years. Students who began their professional studies elsewhere may be admitted to advanced standing; but all persons who apply for admission to the advanced classes must pass an examination in the branches already pursued by the class to which they seek admission, and furnish a satisfactory[1] certificate of time spent in medical studies. No student may advance with his class, or be admitted to advanced standing, until he has passed the required examinations in the studies of the previous year, or a majority of them; nor may he become a member of the third class, until he has passed all the examinations of the first, in addition to a majority of those of the second year.

In order that the time of study shall count as a full year, students of all classes must present themselves within the first week of the School year, and register their names with the Secretary.

Requirements for the Degree. — Every candidate must be twenty-one years of age, and of good moral character; must give evidence of having studied medicine three or four full years; have spent at least one continuous year at this School; have presented a satisfactory thesis; and have passed the required examinations.

[1] Certificates from teachers who practise any peculiar or exclusive system of medicine are not accepted.

The degree of Doctor of Medicine cum laude will be given to candidates who have pursued a complete four years' course, and obtained an average of seventy-five per cent upon all the examinations above stated. A certificate of attendance on the studies of the fourth year will be given to such graduates as have attended the course, and have passed a satisfactory examination in the studies of the same.

Theses of conspicuous merit are mentioned with honor, or read at the University Commencement.

The degree of Master of Arts is open to graduates of the School who are also Bachelors of Arts of Harvard College, and to Bachelors of Arts of other Colleges who shall be recommended by the Faculty of Harvard College. Candidates must pursue an approved course of study in Medicine for at least one year after taking the degree of Doctor of Medicine. Students who have taken the four years' course, and have passed the examinations "with high credit," may obtain the degree of Master of Arts by presenting their applications to the Faculty on or before the first of June in the year of their final examinations.

Pecuniary Aid. — Four yearly scholarships have been established by the Faculty, of the value of $200 each, open to meritorious students who have been at the School for at least one year. The Barringer scholarships, of the value of $300 and $200 respectively, are awarded to deserving students, preferably those of the fourth class. Only those needing assistance are expected to apply; and from such, those holding the highest rank will have the preference.

Two assistants in the Chemical Laboratory are appointed annually from such deserving students as need aid. Students holding this position are exempt from the payment of the fee for tuition during their term of service.

Fees and Expenses. — For matriculation, five dollars; for a year, two hundred dollars (if in two payments, at the first, one hundred and twenty dollars; at the second, eighty dollars); for a half-year alone, one hundred and twenty dollars; for graduation, thirty dollars. Of students who do not pay in advance, a bond for $300, executed by two sufficient bondsmen, one of whom must be a citizen of the United States, is required. No degree can be conferred till all dues to the School are discharged.

Graduates' Course. — For the purpose of affording to those who are already graduates in medicine additional facilities for pursuing clinical, laboratory, and other studies, for which they had not previously found leisure, in such subjects as may especially interest them, and as a substitute in part for the opportunities heretofore sought in Europe, the Faculty have established a post-graduate course, of which the following is a programme. The fee in each branch is for a single half-year.

Histology. — The various methods of examining the different tissues are employed, and opportunities for original research are offered. Fee, twenty dollars.

Physiology. — Opportunities for original investigation in the Physiological Laboratory. Fee, thirty dollars.

Medical Chemistry. — Practical instruction in the Chemical Laboratory, in the analysis of the urine and other animal fluids in health and disease, and of poisons; examination of water, of food and milk for the detection of adulteration, and of blood-stains and other objects connected with medico-legal investigations, with the application of the microscope to these processes. General analysis, also, if desired. Laboratory fee, thirty dollars.

Pathological Anatomy. — Practical instruction in Pathological Histology and the examination of specimens in the Microscopical Laboratory; and opportunity for witnessing and making autopsies. Fee, twenty dollars.

Surgery. — A practical course of operative surgery, and instruction in the application of bandages and apparatus. Fee, twenty-five dollars.

Laryngology is practically taught, and diseases of the larynx demonstrated. Fee, twenty dollars.

Ophthalmology. — Clinical instruction, lectures on diseases of the eye, and demonstrations of the methods of performing operations. Exercises in the use of the ophthalmoscope. Fee, twenty-five dollars.

Those pursuing this course may elect the studies to which they will give their attention, and allot the time they will devote to each. They will be exempt, unless at their option, from examinations, and may obtain a certificate of attendance on this course of advanced study. On payment of the full fee for the course, they will have the privilege of attending any of the other exercises of the Medical School, the use of its laboratories and library, and all other rights accorded by the University.

Graduates of other medical schools may obtain the degree of M. D. at this University, after a year's study in the graduates' course. The required examinations are those of the three years' course, and may be passed in such order as is desired, but only at the stated seasons.

Fee for a year	$200
Fee for a half-year	$120

The Commencement of the Medical School occurs in June at Cambridge, in common with that of other departments of the University.

Dental Department of Harvard University.

North Grove Street, Boston, Mass.

The Dental School corresponds in the times and in many of the lectures to those of the Medical School.

This school offers superior advantages, in that, while the instruction will be no less thorough in those departments peculiar to Dentistry, it gives the student unusual facilities for the study of Anatomy, Physiology, Surgery, and Chemistry; as the dental student pursues the same course in them as is required of the medical student, and in common with him has free access to the hospitals of the city, to the Microscope Room, the Chemical and Physiological Laboratories, the Dissecting Rooms, Library, and Museum of the Medical College, and the University Lectures. The last are special courses, delivered by men eminent in their departments, and embrace a wide range of medical and collateral branches.

The establishment of the school in Boston secures to it, in connection with the Medical Department, those advantages for clinical instruction which are found only in large cities.

The Professors teach by lectures, recitations, and clinics; and, under the direction of demonstrators, patients are assigned to the students, who thus have an opportunity of operating at the chair, and becoming familiar by actual practice with all operations demanded of the dental practitioner.

Instruction in this school is given throughout the academic year, and extends over two years. The term commences on the Thursday following the last Wednesday in September, and ends on the last Wednesday in June. It is divided into equal terms, with a recess of one week at Christmas, and a spring recess of one week beginning on the Wednesday before Fast Day. The course of instruction is progressive, and extends over two years, the teaching of one year not being repeated in the next.

The following are the methods of study adopted in the various departments: —

Anatomy. — Lectures largely illustrated by the anatomical preparations and models of the Warren Museum, and by an extensive series of colored drawings and diagrams; various practical exercises, including dissection under the direction of the Demonstrator; recitations from text-books; histology.

Physiology. — Lectures, recitations, and practical demonstrations in the laboratory. A new physiological laboratory has been fitted up, which is under the supervision of an able teacher, who devotes his whole time to this department.

Chemistry is taught mainly by practical work in the laboratory, each student having his own desk and apparatus. General Chemistry and Qualitative Analysis are taught during the first year. Besides the laboratory work, there is a lecture and a recitation every week.

Surgery. — Lectures and recitations. The surgical lectures are illustrated by a magnificent collection of colored drawings, and by recent and morbid specimens. All the new and approved surgical instruments and apparatus are exhibited, and their use explained. In addition to operations on the living subject at the hospitals, Operative Surgery is taught, and operations are performed upon the dead body, as a part of the illustrations of the surgical lectures. A course of lectures in Oral Surgery will be given during the winter.

Instruction in Clinical Surgery is given at the Massachusetts General Hospital and City Hospital every week.

Operative Dentistry. — The instruction in this department is both didactic and practical. The professor and assistants endeavor to demonstrate all known methods of performing operations upon the teeth and other tissues involved.

The treatment of irregularities, origin and treatment of decay, materials used for filling teeth, the most improved instruments used in operating, etc., are appropriately treated of. Clinics are held at the Infirmary, and every available means used to make the student practically acquainted with all the modern improvements of this important branch of dental science.

Oral Pathology and Anatomy. — Lectures and recitations upon the minute anatomy of the teeth and their histological development, and the surgical pathology of the tissues in and about the mouth. Material furnished for the examination of the tissues in a healthy and diseased condition, with instruction in its preparation. Instruction in the use of the microscope, and the preparation of objects for examination.

Dental Pathology and Therapeutics. — The general principles of medicine are discussed, and an effort is made so to show the application of those principles in the specialty of dentistry that empirical practice may be as far as possible avoided. While much attention is devoted to methods, means are not neglected; and extended lectures are given upon those articles of the materia medica which are serviceable to the dentist. These lectures are illustrated by a collection of samples of drugs, including all the medicines ordinarily used in dental therapeutics.

Mechanical Dentistry. — Lectures and practical work in the laboratory; the manner in which mineral teeth are constructed to meet all cases, both special and general; the principles and method of carving and furnace-work, and all compounds used for artificial teeth; also Metallurgy, and the manner in which gold and silver plates are prepared and adapted to the mouth; the use of rubber and other articles as bases. It is the aim of the professor to teach not only the mere mechanical processes of dentistry, but that combination of art with mechanism which enables the practitioner to effect so much in restoring the symmetry of the face, and usefulness of the teeth, where they have been lost or impaired by accident or disease.

The lectures, strictly dental, and the laboratory exercises, are held in the Medical School Building, North Grove Street. For the accommodation of the mechanical department an excellent laboratory has been prepared, with room for from forty to fifty students, each having his own drawer with its lock and key. Ample arrangements have also been made for the full demonstration of the manufacture of mineral teeth.

The lectures, attended in common with the medical students, are delivered in the Medical College in Boylston Street.

The Infirmary, which is a department of the Massachusetts General Hospital, remains open, and one of the Clinical Instructors and the Demonstrator are in attendance at the out-patients' room daily throughout the year, offering to students unsurpassed facilities for acquiring practical knowledge and dexterity. Teeth are extracted daily from 2 to 4, except Saturday. Upwards of eight thousand operations are performed every year.

The regular examinations will be held in the following order, namely: — from the Demonstrator of Anatomy will be required of each student, that he has satisfactorily dissected the three parts of the body.

At the end of the second year, Oral Pathology, Dental Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Oral Surgery and Surgical Pathology, Operative and Mechanical Dentistry. The examinations in Operative and Mechanical Dentistry will include actual operations and the preparation of specimens of Mechanical Dentistry. Students may be admitted to advanced standing upon passing a satisfactory examination in a majority of the studies already pursued by the class; but no student shall advance with his class or be admitted to advanced standing until he has passed such examination. Admission to advanced standing does not diminish the time (three years) to be spent in professional studies.

Requirements for a Degree. — The degree of Doctor of Dental Medicine (Dentariæ Medicinæ Doctor) may be conferred upon each candidate of adult age, of good moral character, who shall have pursued his professional studies three years under competent instructors; he must have spent at least one continuous year at this school. He must maintain a thesis, have passed all the required examinations, and convince the Professors of Operative and Mechanical Dentistry of his ability to meet satisfactorily the requirements of his art.

Graduates of recognized dental schools who desire to obtain the dental degree of this University will be admitted to examination after attendance at this school for one year.

The regular Commencement of the Dental School occurs in June, at Cambridge, in common with the other departments of the University.

Fees. — There are no fees for matriculation, for the diploma, or for the demonstrators. For the first year a student is a member of the school the fee is two hundred dollars; for the second year, one hundred and fifty dollars; for any subsequent year, fifty dollars. Use of library and attendance on hospital and dispensaries, free.

Other information regarding the school will be given by the Dean, Dr. T. H. Chandler, 74 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Mass.

Legislature to confer the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery. The students are classed as Juniors and Seniors, and the college pupilage is continuous over three years.

In this institution all branches of the dental and collateral sciences are taught, so far as they can be made available to the dentist. Every endeavor is used to make the course scientific and practical, by demonstration and experiment. During the first year the students attend lectures as follows: on Inorganic Chemistry, Physiology, Therapeutics and Materia Medica, Operative, Clinical, and Mechanical Dentistry; they must also pass a written examination in the first three chairs.

In the second year they attend lectures on Surgery, Organic Chemistry, Anatomy, Pathology, Microscopy, and Dental Histology, Operative, Clinical, and Mechanical Dentistry, and pass written examinations in all these branches.

The regular college term commences on the first Monday in November, and continues until the first Wednesday in April. Two or more lectures are given to each class each week-day, except Saturday. The laboratory and operating room are open at 9 o'clock A. M., and continue open until 3 P. M. each day, for the performing of operations and for practical work. Lecture hours from 3.30 to 5.30 P. M.

The spring term opens the second Monday in April, and continues ten weeks. A fee of twenty-five dollars is required for this term, which sum will be deducted from the fee for the full course when the tickets are taken.

A preliminary term opens October 1st, and continues to the commencement of the regular term without extra expense.

School of Pharmacy of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy.

The lectures of the School of Pharmacy, under the control of the College of Pharmacy, are delivered during the winter season at No. 1151 Washington Street, Boston. The regular course of instruction begins on the first Monday of October, and ends on the last Friday of March of each year.

The course comprises theoretical and practical instruction by means of lectures, experiments, specimens, models, and diagrams in the departments of General, Pharmaceutical, and Analytical Chemistry, Botany, Toxicology, and Materia Medica, and Theory and Practice of Pharmacy. Ample accommodations are provided for practical laboratory work.

The extensive library of Mr. S. A. D. Sheppard, together with that of the college and the alumni association, are deposited in the building, and are accessible to students.

No regular student will be admitted to the course who does not pass a preliminary examination; special students not expecting a degree will be received as heretofore. The preliminary examination is held on the last Monday in September.

Every person upon whom the diploma of Graduate in Pharmacy of this college shall be conferred must be of good moral character, must have arrived at the age of twenty-one years, have attended two courses of each of the lectures delivered in the college, or the senior course in this college after one course in some other recognized college of pharmacy, and have gained at the least sixty per cent in each branch at the general examinations; he must have served an apprenticeship of at least four years with some qualified pharmacist or pharmacists, of which fact he must produce satisfactory evidence to the Board of Examiners. He must also produce an original dissertation or thesis, in his own handwriting, upon some subject of Pharmacy, Materia Medica, Botany, Chemistry, or one of the branches of science closely connected therewith. The thesis, with the evidence of apprenticeship and diploma fee, shall be deposited with one of the Faculty on or before the 1st of March of the session in which the application is made. He must also be recommended in writing by the professors; and if his application be finally approved of by the Board of Trustees, he shall receive the diploma of the college. The regular examination for the degree takes place in April.

Only such students as may have served their time in dispensing stores will be entitled to the degree of Graduate in Pharmacy. Clerks from wholesale drug stores will receive a certificate of proficiency, and will not be examined in extemporaneous pharmacy. Medical students and others who are not looking forward to pharmacy as their calling, will be admitted to the lectures in any of the departments they may wish. Such persons will be ineligible to the degree, but will in other respects have the same advantages as regular students of pharmacy.

Fees. — For each professor's ticket, fifteen dollars; matriculation ticket (once only), four dollars; diploma fee, ten dollars. Medico-chemical examination of drugs, (elective) and spring course in Botany, (elective) extra. Students employed by members of the college are required to pay but two dollars for matriculation. Students who have attended two full courses of lectures are exempt from further payments.

Both senior and junior students must obtain their matriculation tickets before the first Monday in October, and register their names and addresses with S. A. D. Sheppard, Ph. G., corner Washington and Dover streets, Boston, from whom the lecture tickets may be obtained. They must be paid for before the third Monday in October. The laboratory of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy is open for the instruction of special students of either sex and any age. Information concerning such instruction will be given by Prof. Davenport.

Other information concerning the school may be obtained of C. C. Williams, Ph. G., Corresponding Secretary, 210 Columbus Avenue, Boston, Mass.

School of Veterinary Medicine of Harvard University.

The academic year begins on the Thursday following the last Wednesday in September, and ends on the last Wednesday in June. There is a recess at Christmas, beginning December 23, and ending January 2; and a spring recess, beginning on the Wednesday before Fast Day, and ending on the following Tuesday inclusive.

DIVISION OF STUDIES.

For the first year. — Anatomy, Physiology, General Chemistry, and Botany.

For the second year. — Practical Anatomy, Medical Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pathological Anatomy, Surgical Pathology, Clinical Medicine, and Clinical Surgery.

For the third year. — Therapeutics, Obstetrics, Theory and Practice of Veterinary Medicine, Clinical Medicine, Veterinary Surgery, Clinical Surgery, Ophthalmology, Parasites, and Parasitic Diseases.

Bussey Farm. — The school also enjoys the use of commodious buildings and pastures at the Bussey Farm, to which animals convalescing from various diseases and lamenesses are sent from the Village Street building for a period of rest. A large number of cows, as well as of horses, can be accommodated, and will be received here directly for treatment if desired. It is intended to establish at the Bussey Farm a herd of dairy cows in order that students may have actual work in bovine practice and obstetrics, — an opportunity of very great value to all students, especially to those who expect to have a mixed or country practice, and one which is rarely attainable at a veterinary college.

Forge. — The forge is to be used for the shoeing of both sound and lame horses. The theory of orthopœdic shoeing will be taught as well as that of shoeing sound animals. It will be possible also for those students who desire it, to procure a course in practical horseshoeing.

Museum. — Besides the rich collection at the Warren Museum, to which the students have access, the anatomical and pathological collection of the Bussey Institution has been lent to the school, and, with gifts of like objects from several gentlemen, already forms the nucleus of a valuable museum.

Methods of Instruction. — In all departments cases will be placed under the care of the senior students, who will be expected to act in regular order as visitors and dressers, to keep a full record of all work done, and report the same to the class for criticism. In the same way it is expected that students will do the work of mixing and dispensing medicines in the pharmacy, that they may thus become thoroughly competent veterinary pharmacists.

A thorough drill will be given at the hospitals in the various methods of restraining animals during operation, in the application of bandages, and the administration of medicine, as well as in the common methods of approaching and handling animals.

Practice in the examination of horses for soundness will be given frequently during the last two years of the course, and students will be required to write certificates of such examinations and to present them before the class for criticism.

Autopsies will be made on all patients that die at the hospital, and on any cadavers that may be sent for examination.

Every candidate must be twenty-one years of age, and of good moral character; must give evidence of having studied Veterinary Medicine three full years; have spent at least one continuous year at this school; have presented a satisfactory thesis; and have passed the required examinations.

Fees. — For matriculation, five dollars; for a year, one hundred dollars (if in two payments, at the first sixty dollars; at the second forty dollars); for a half year alone, sixty dollars; for graduation, thirty dollars. Of students who do not pay in advance, a bond for $300, executed by two sufficient bondsmen, one of whom must be a citizen of the United States, is required.

The lectures and recitations in anatomy and botany are given in the class-rooms of the handsome stone building of the Bussey Institution, and the collections of the Veterinary School are deposited in its Museum. A commodious building, adjacent to this building and to the greenhouses and barns that appertain to it, has been fitted up as a dissecting-room, where abundant material for anatomical purposes is supplied to the students. These buildings are situated upon ornamental grounds adjoining the Arnold Arboretum and the Bussey Farm, so that ample facilities are at hand for the field study of botany.

Boston Training School for Nurses.

The school was organized November 1, 1873, for the purpose of giving thorough instruction in nursing to women desirous of becoming professional nurses. Applicants for admission must be from twenty-five to thirty-five years of age, and in sound health; must present a certificate from some responsible person as to their good moral character, and that they have had a good common-school education. The school is under the direction of a committee of twenty-four ladies, who meet on the first Tuesday of each month, and who visit the school and the courses in turn. Persons wishing to receive the course of instruction must apply to the Secretary, Miss M. A. Wales, 19 Brimmer Street, Boston.

After approval by the Superintendent of the school and the Resident Physician of the Hospital, they are received for one month on probation. During this month they are boarded and lodged at the expense of the school, but receive no compensation.

The school is attached to the Massachusetts General Hospital, and the pupils serve in the wards of that institution.

They are under the authority of the Resident Physician and the Superintendent, and are subject to the rules of the hospital. Their fitness for the work, and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them at the end of the month of trial, is determined by the Resident Physician of the hospital and the Superintendent and Directors of the school; and the same authorities can also discharge them at any time, in case of misconduct or inefficiency. They reside in the house provided for the school by the Directors, near the hospital, and serve as assistant nurses in the wards of the hospital.

Those fulfilling the conditions of the probationary month are accepted as pupils. They must sign a written agreement to remain at the school for a year, and after that time to maintain, as paid nurses, a connection with the school for an additional year, in consideration of training received.

The instruction includes: The dressing of burns, sores, and wounds; the preparation and application of fomentations, poultices, and minor dressings; the application of leeches, and subsequent treatment; the administration of enemas; the best method of friction to the body and extremities; the best means for the moving of patients, changing their clothing, giving baths in bed, and preventing bed-sores; bandaging; making bandages and rollers; lining splints; making patients' beds; changing sheets while the patient is in bed. They are taught to prepare food for the sick, and to secure, as far as possible, proper ventilation; to observe accurately the state of the secretions, expectoration, pulse, skin, appetite, temperature, sleep, eruptions, effect of diet, stimulants, or medicine. They are also instructed with regard to the management of convalescents. This instruction is given mainly by the Superintendent and by the head nurses. Lectures, recitations, and demonstrations also take place at stated periods. Examinations will take place from time to time, relative chiefly to practical points.

The pupils are connected with the different wards for one year. They board and lodge at the home, and are paid ten dollars a month for their clothing and personal expenses. This sum is in nowise intended as wages, it being considered that their education during this time is a full equivalent for their services. At the expiration of one year they become full nurses, and receive such increase of pay as the Directors shall see fit. When the full term of two years is completed, the nurses thus trained receive (after final examination) diplomas certifying to their knowledge of nursing, their ability, and good character.

The Directors reserve the right to terminate the connection of any nurse or pupil with the school, for any reason which they may deem sufficient.

During the winter the nurses attend lectures once a week, given by different physicians of the city.

Physicians wishing the services of nurses from the Training School should apply to the Superintendent of the school, at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Boston City Hospital Training School for Nurses.

Boston, Mass.

The Trustees of the Boston City Hospital organized in 1877 a Training School for nurses, for the purpose of giving a systematic and thorough course of instruction in nursing to women who intend to become professional nurses.

The school is under the direction of the Trustees and a committee of the Hospital Staff, but is more immediately under the charge of the Superintendent of the school, and the Resident Physician and Superintendent of the Hospital.

The pupils of the school reside at the Hospital and serve as nurses in the wards for men, women, and children, passing in rotation through the various services of the Hospital, in order that experience may be had in all the departments.

Pupils of the school are under the authority of the Superintendent of the school and the Resident Physician of the Hospital, and are subject to the rules and regulations of the Hospital.

The most desirable age for candidates is from twenty-one to thirty-five years; they must be in good, sound health, and must present on application a certificate from two or more responsible persons (one a physician preferred) as to their good character, education, capabilities, and good health. Upon the recommendation of the Superintendent of the Hospital and the approval of the Trustees, they will be received for one month on probation. During this month they are boarded and lodged at the Hospital, but receive no compensation.

At the end of the probationary month, if accepted as pupils, the candidates will sign an agreement to remain at the Training School for two years, and to conform to the rules of the Hospital.

They will enter the wards as assistant nurses, and at the end of the first year may be promoted to the position of head nurse. Pupils will receive for every month, after the month of probation, ten dollars per month during the first year, and fourteen dollars per month during the second year.

This sum is for clothing and personal expenses, and is in nowise intended as wages, it being considered that their education during this time is a full equivalent for their services.

The course of instruction includes: 1. The dressing of blisters, burns, sores, and wounds, and applying of fomentations, poultices, and minor dressings. 2. The applying of leeches, and subsequent treatment. 3. The administering of enemas. 4. The applying of friction to the body and extremities in the best method. 5. The managing of helpless patients in bed, in moving, changing clothing, giving baths, keeping patients warm or cool, preventing and dressing bed-sores, managing position, etc., and in feeding. 6. The making of bandages and rollers, etc., and bandaging. 7. The making of beds, and changing sheets, etc., with patients in bed. 8. The cooking, preparing, and serving of food and delicacies for the sick.

They are also given some instruction in the best practical methods of supplying fresh air, warming and ventilating sick-rooms in a proper manner, and are taught to take proper care of rooms and wards, in keeping all utensils perfectly clean and disinfected, etc., to observe the sick accurately in regard to the state of the secretions, expectorations, pulse, breathing, skin, temperature, eruptions, sleep, appetite, effect of diet or of stimulants and medicine; and the managing of convalescents.

The instruction is given mainly by the Superintendent of the Training School and her assistant, and by the head nurses. Lectures, recitations, and demonstrations also take place at stated periods, being given by the Superintendent of the school and by the Surgeons and Physicians of the Hospital Staff. Pupils are required to take notes upon these lessons, and examinations, chiefly upon practical points, will take place from time to time.

They will wear at all times, while on duty in the wards, the hospital uniform dress. When the full term of two years is completed, the nurses thus trained receive (after final examination) diplomas, certifying as to their knowledge of nursing, and their ability. The right is reserved to terminate the connection of any nurse or pupil with the school, for any reason which may be deemed sufficient, by the authorities of the Hospital.

When pupils have graduated, the nurses thus trained are at liberty to choose their own field of labor, and may be retained, if desired, as head nurses and instructors, with increased wages, or may go away as private nurses, or to other hospitals.

The authorities of this school will endeavor, if desired, to secure places for graduates in hospitals, or in private families where there is sickness.

Miss Linda Richards is Superintendent of Nurses; Miss Georgianna Russell is Assistant Superintendent.

Persons desiring to become pupils of the Training School should apply to G. H. M. Rowe, M. D., Resident Physician and Superintendent, Boston City Hospital.

Bowdoin College—Medical School of Maine.

Brunswick, Me.

The Medical School of Maine, by an Act of the Legislature, is placed under the superintendence and direction of the Board of Trustees and Overseers of Bowdoin College. By their joint authority all the degrees of M. D. are conferred.

Instruction is given at Brunswick, and the term commences on the first Thursday in February, and continues sixteen weeks.

The anatomical cabinet was purchased in Paris, and many of the preparations were there made under the direction of the late Professor Thillaye. Its valuable specimens of morbid and comparative anatomy are constantly increasing. It has been recently thoroughly rearranged, and enriched by valuable purchases abroad.

Fees for admission to the several courses of lectures, payable in advance, and by cash only, are seventy-eight dollars. Matriculation, or library fee, payable each term, five dollars. Pupils who have attended two full courses of medical lectures, one of which have been in this school, are admitted to all subsequent courses without payment of any lecture fees. Students who have attended two full courses at other regular medical institutions are required to pay twenty-five dollars for admission to their first course of lectures at this school, in addition to the matriculation fee. The graduation fee, including the diploma, is twenty-five dollars. Fee for analytical chemistry, ten dollars.

No student will be allowed to attend any course of lectures in this school without the certificate of the Secretary. Members of the medical profession are cordially invited to attend the lectures at any time. Graduates of other schools, who have been engaged three years in the regular practice of medicine, may receive a general ticket upon presentation of their diplomas and payment of the matriculation fee. Every student is expected to remain till the close of the term. Those who are absent during any portion of the term will receive certificates of actual attendance only.

Examinations and Graduation. — Students, and particularly candidates for a degree, are examined either daily or weekly on the subjects of the lectures.

The Faculty, believing that it is desirable for students to pay especial attention to the primary branches during the first portion of their course of study, in order that they may be better prepared to appreciate the more advanced subjects in the latter part, have voted that any student may present himself for examination in Anatomy, Physiology, and Chemistry (any or all), at the regularly appointed time for examination, provided he previously present to the Secretary satisfactory evidence that, at the close of the current term, he shall have completed at least twelve months of actual study, and have attended a full course of lectures in this school. From the terms of the vote, this course will be recognized as a voluntary one. An official record of the result of the successful examination will be kept. Students may also present themselves for final examination in Materia Medica and Therapeutics, and in Obstetrics. The successful passage of an examination will not exempt a student from faithful attendance upon any exercises in any department during subsequent courses.

The examinations for the degree of Doctor of Medicine are held by the Faculty of Medicine at the close of the course of lectures. Degrees are conferred at Commencement.

The candidates must be twenty-one years of age, and must have devoted three years to their professional studies under the direction of a regular practitioner of medicine. They must have attended two full courses of lectures in some regular, incorporated medical institution; and the last course, previous to examination, must have been at this school. They must deposit with the Secretary of the Faculty satisfactory certificates of good moral character, and of having pursued their medical studies for the required term. They must pass a satisfactory written and oral examination in Anatomy, Physiology, Surgery, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pharmacy, Obstetrics, Pathology, and Practice. They must also present a thesis or dissertation on some medical subject.

Other information regarding the school will be given by the Secretary of the Faculty, Dr. Alfred Mitchell, Brunswick, Me.

Portland School for Medical Instruction.

188 Middle Street, Portland, Me.

The school was organized in 1858, in accordance with resolutions adopted by the American Medical Association, "cordially approving the establishment of private schools, to meet the increasing desire of medical students for a higher grade of professional education than can usually be acquired under the direction of a single instructor."

The plan of instruction includes recitations, lectures, demonstrations, and other practical and didactic exercises. Systematic recitations are held in the departments of Anatomy, Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Surgery, Theory and Practice of Medicine, Obstetrics, and Chemistry. The best text-books are adopted in the several branches, and the examinations are made as complete and rigid as possible, the chief object of the teachers being to insist upon accurate medical scholarship. Familiar lectures and demonstrations are given in the course of the year, on the physical exploration of the chest, and diseases of the heart and lungs, on minor and operative surgery, on the diseases of women, on physiology, on the art of prescribing, and on the application of bandages and surgical dressings. Clinical instruction is afforded the students at the Maine General Hospital by the physicians and surgeons at that institution, at the Portland Dispensary, the Greely Hospital, and the U. S. Marine Hospital.

Cases of midwifery are furnished to advanced students as far as possible.

Students have access at all times to the anatomical and pathological museum connected with the school, which contains many valuable specimens, and is rapidly increasing in size and importance.

The school-rooms occupy the third and fourth stories of the Canal National Bank building, 188 Middle Street, and are in every way adapted to their use.

There are two terms in each year: a summer term of sixteen weeks, commencing on the second Wednesday in June, and ending on the first Wednesday in October; and a winter term, also of sixteen weeks, beginning on the second Wednesday of October, and closing the last of January, — thus allowing students to attend the spring course of lectures in the Medical School of Maine. The plan of study is so arranged as to cover the whole field in the two terms which constitute the year.

Fees, for the year, sixty dollars; for the summer term alone, thirty-five dollars; for the winter term alone, forty dollars; demonstrator's ticket (including material for dissection), seven dollars. Students attending the school for half a term or less will be charged for half a term. All fees are payable invariably in advance.

Applicants are required to satisfy the instructors that they are possessed not only of a good common-school education, but also of such a familiarity with the Latin language as may be acquired by the study of Harkness's Introductory Latin Book, and of a knowledge of Physics equal to that which may be got from Norton's Elements of Natural Philosophy. The fact of graduation from a college, or from a high school or academy whose curriculum requires the study of these books, or their equivalent, will be taken as sufficient evidence of these acquirements; but in the absence of such evidence a written examination will be held, in which the orthography and syntax will be taken into account.

Medical Department of Dartmouth College.

Hanover, N. H.

The lecture course of this institution commences on the last Wednesday in July, and continues sixteen weeks. Six lectures are delivered daily, except Saturdays. Medical instruction is further given by daily recitations, commencing on the first Wednesday in December, and continuing till the last of June, annually. Students are classified according to their advancement in their studies, and take up in regular order the different branches of medicine. They are admitted to the public courses of lectures in the academical department of the college. Ample facilities for dissection and for work in the chemical laboratory are afforded. They have ready access to the various museums of the institution. They also have the privilege of the college library on the same terms with students in the other departments of the college.

Applicants for admission must be eighteen years of age, and unless already matriculants of some regular medical college, or graduates of some reputable college, academy, or high school, must pass an examination as to their fitness for entering upon and appreciating the technical study of medicine.

Examinations and Graduation. — After the completion of two full years of the study of medicine, shown by proper certificate and two full courses of lectures, one at this college, any student may be admitted at the regular times, to an examination in Anatomy, Physiology, and General Chemistry. If satisfactorily passed this will take the place of the final examination in these branches. The fee for this examination will be ten dollars, which at the final examination will be deducted from the graduation fee.

Every candidate for the degree of Doctor of Medicine must be twenty-one years of age, and must give satisfactory evidence of good moral character. He shall have attended two full courses of lectures on all the branches of medical science, at some regularly authorized medical school, one of which shall have been at this institution. He shall give satisfactory evidence that he has devoted three full years to his professional studies, under the direction of some regular practitioner, — the time spent at lectures being included. No thesis is required.

There are two examinations, the first preceding the annual Commencement of the college, and the second at the close of the medical lectures. All examinations are written.

Fees. — Matriculation (paid annually), five dollars; for the course of lectures, seventy-seven dollars; graduating expenses, twenty-five dollars; chemicals and ordinary breakage, three dollars. Students who have attended two courses, one of them at this institution, may attend the third on payment of the matriculation fee; of those who have attended two courses at any other regular institution, forty dollars will be required in addition to the matriculation fee. For recitations, for the term, forty dollars; chemistry, extra, fifteen dollars.

Anatomical material extra, at cost.

University of Vermont—Medical Department.

Burlington, Vt.

The plan of instruction adopted by this institution consists of a course of lectures in Anatomy, Physiology, Materia Medica, Chemistry, Surgery, Obstetrics, and the Theory and Practice of Medicine.

In order to render the course of instruction as thorough as possible, lectures upon special subjects are delivered by non-resident instructors, eminent in their several branches.

The college now occupies its new building, recently erected, the gift of John P. Howard, of Burlington. Clinical instruction is given in the Mary Fletcher Hospital.

The regular course of lectures commences on the first Thursday of March, and continues seventeen weeks. This course consists of from five to six lectures daily. Clinics in the various branches of medicine and surgery are held during the regular term.

A preliminary course of lectures and recitations on the Principles and Practice of Medicine, Surgery, Anatomy, Obstetrics, Diseases of Women, Chemistry, and Physiology commences on the first Thursday in November and continues until March. Opportunity is afforded for dissection.

Requirements for Graduation. — Candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine, before presenting themselves for examination, must have attended two full courses of lectures, the latter in this college, the time elapsing between the beginning of the first and ending of the second, being at least fifteen months. They must have studied medicine three years, under the direction of a regular physician or surgeon, and have attained the age of twenty-one years.

Each candidate is required to deposit his graduation fee with the Dean of the Faculty one month before the close of the session. Full certificates of the time of study, of age, and of moral character, must also be furnished. They must also pass a satisfactory examination before the Medical Faculty and Board of Medical Examiners, appointed by the State Medical Society. No thesis is required.

Two full courses of lectures are absolutely required, and no period of practice will be taken as an equivalent for one course.

To prevent any misunderstanding with regard to the requirements for graduation, the Faculty desire to state that the only courses of lectures recognized are those taken at medical colleges recognized by the American Medical Association. The tickets and diplomas of eclectic, homœopathic, or botanic colleges, or of colleges devoted to any special system of medicine, are considered irregular, and will not be recognized under any circumstances. Certificates from instructors who practise any peculiar system of medicine, or who advertise, or violate in any way the code of ethics adopted by the profession, will not be received, under any circumstances, even if the instructors be regular graduates in medicine.

Graduates of other regular colleges, who desire a degree from this institution, must pass a satisfactory examination in the branches of Medicine, Surgery, and Obstetrics; and if they be graduates of more than three years' standing, they must exhibit a certificate of membership in some medical society entitled to representation in the American Medical Association. They will be required to pay the matriculation and the graduation fee. No thesis is required.

Two prizes are offered each year by the Faculty for general proficiency in examination. (See prizes, on a subsequent page.)

Fees, for matriculation, payable each term, five dollars; for the full course of lectures, seventy dollars; for graduation, twenty-five dollars; for the preliminary course, thirty dollars. Materials for dissection furnished at cost.

Students who have already attended two full courses of lectures in other regular schools are admitted on paying the matriculation fee and twenty-five dollars.

Students who have attended two full courses in this school, or who have attended one full course in some regularly established medical school and one full course in this school, are admitted to a third course of lectures on paying the matriculation fee only.

Graduates of this school are admitted without fee. Graduates of other regular schools, and theological students, are admitted on general ticket, by paying the matriculation fee.

Further information concerning the school may be obtained from Dr. A. P. Grinnell, Secretary of the Faculty, Burlington, Vt.

Medical Department of Yale College.

New Haven, Conn.

The curriculum of study extends over three years. The students are classified and their studies are made progressive, from the rudimentary to the practical branches.

The College year extends from the first Thursday in October to the Commencement in June, with a vacation of three weeks at Christmas and a recess in the spring, usually of one week.

The first term begins with the first Thursday of October, and continues eleven weeks. The second term begins three weeks after the close of the first, and continues twelve weeks. The third term is eleven weeks in length, ending with Commencement.

Throughout the year instruction is given by lectures and recitations, so arranged and combined with practical work in the Chemical, Anatomical, Histological, Physiological, and Pathological Laboratories as best to promote the advancement of studies to a thorough knowledge of Medical Science.

Abundant facilities for clinical instruction are found in the numerous clinics at the College, the State Hospital, and the New Haven Dispensary. The latter charity is located upon the college grounds.

The museum contains a large collection of natural and morbid specimens, numerous casts, plates, and models of elegant execution, and an extensive cabinet of Materia Medica, all of which are made practically useful in illustrating the subjects taught. The libraries of the University and the cabinets of mineralogy and natural history are also open for the use of students.

New Haven offers special advantages to medical students for the study of Zoölogy, Comparative Anatomy, Botany, and other branches, under distinguished teachers, in connection with the Sheffield Scientific School.

All candidates for admission, excepting those who have passed an examination for admission to Yale College or some similar institution, must present a degree in letters or Science, from a recognized college or scientific school, or pass an examination. Copies of the questions of previous examinations will be furnished by the Dean.

Examinations are held at the medical college on the Wednesday preceding the opening of the college year, and also on the Thursday after commencement. Examinations are also held on the Thursday following commencement, in Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, and San Francisco. A fee of five dollars is charged for admission to these examinations.

Requirements for Graduation. — Examinations are held at the close of each year on the studies of that year. The examinations at the end of the first year are upon Chemistry, Histology, and Elementary Physiology.

Those at the end of the second year are upon advanced Physiology, and upon Anatomy, Materia Medica, and Therapeutics.

Those at the end of the third year are upon Pathology, Surgery, Medicine, and Obstetrics.

Every candidate must be twenty-one years of age, and of good moral character; must have spent at least one continuous year at this school and have passed the required examinations in all the studies of the three years' course.

No theses are required for graduation; but theses or monographs embodying results of original research, and of marked excellence, will be honorably mentioned, and may be commended for publication in the transactions of the Connecticut Medical Society or elsewhere.

The Board of Examiners consists of the Faculty, and an equal number of the members of the Connecticut Medical Society, appointed by the President and Fellows of the same; and the President of the society is ex officio President of the Committee. The examinations are conducted in writing.

Two examinations for degrees are held annually: one at the close of the winter term, and the other on the Tuesday before Commencement, at the close of the spring term.

Fees, for matriculation, paid on entering the school, five dollars; tuition for one year, one hundred and twenty-five dollars; contingent expenses of laboratory, spring term, ten dollars; demonstrator's ticket, five dollars (for each part); graduation fee, thirty dollars.

Other information regarding the institution may be obtained from the Dean, Dr. C. A. Lindsley, New Haven.

Connecticut Training School for Nurses.

New Haven, Conn.

The Training School for Nurses is connected with the New Haven Hospital, and gives one year's training to women desirous of becoming professional nurses. Those wishing to receive this course of instruction must apply to the Secretary of the society, when, if approved by the Executive Committee, they will be accepted as pupils in the Hospital. The candidates must be over twenty-two, and under forty years of age, and must present a certificate from a clergyman or physician as to their good moral character and sound health. They will be received for one month on probation, without compensation.

They will be under the authority of the Superintendent of Nursing, and subject to the rules of the Hospital. The Superintendent will have full power to decide as to their fitness for the work, and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them at the end of the month of trial. She can also discharge them at any time in case of misconduct or inefficiency, with the approval of the Committee of the Training School.

Those fulfilling the conditions of the probationary month will be accepted as pupil nurses. They must sign a written agreement to remain under the direction of the school for eighteen months. They will reside in or near the Hospital, and serve as nurses in the wards for men and women. They will pass through the different wards of the Hospital, serving and being taught for twelve months, and will be supplied with board and lodging as an equivalent for their services. No charge is made for instruction, and two dollars weekly are allowed for small personal expenses. During the last five months of their connection with the school, the nurses will receive fourteen dollars a month and their board; they will be assigned to their duties by the head nurse, and from time to time sent to the care of patients in private families.

The instruction includes: 1. The dressing of blisters, burns, sores, and wounds; the application of fomentations, poultices, and minor dressings. 2. The application of leeches. 3. The administration of enemas. 4. The use of the catheter. 5. The keeping of temperature records. 6. The best methods of applying friction to the body and extremities. 7. The management of helpless patients; moving, changing, giving baths in bed, preventing and dressing bed-sores, and managing positions. 8. Bandaging, making bandages and rollers, lining of splints. 9. Making patients' beds, and removing sheets while the patient is in bed. 10. The keeping of all utensils, sponges, bed, tables, etc., perfectly clean.

The pupil nurses will be taught the preparation of nice articles of diet, and of drinks and stimulants for the sick; also to understand the art of ventilation, and to make accurate observations, and report to the physician the various symptoms of patients.

The teaching will be given by attending and resident physicians and surgeons, at the bedside of the patients, and in lectures, and by the Superintendent of Nursing.

When the full term is ended, the nurses thus trained will be at liberty to choose their own field of labor, whether in hospitals, in private families, or in district nursing among the poor. On leaving the school, they will each receive a certificate of ability and good character, signed by the physicians of the Committee, and the President of the society. Efforts will also be made to secure for the graduates positions in hospitals or in private families where there is sickness. The certificates will be renewed at fixed periods, in order to protect the public and to maintain the interest of nurses in the school.

Physicians or others in any part of the State desiring to secure the services of trained nurses for men or women, medical or surgical patients, should apply by telegraph, or letter, stating the nature of the case, to the Superintendent of Nursing, State Hospital, New Haven, Conn.

The price per week for the services of a trained nurse is twelve dollars and her expenses, unless two members of a family are ill at the same time, when there will be a slight additional charge.

Tongaline

Liquor Tongae Salicylatus,

THE NEW REMEDY FOR NEURALGIA AND RHEUMATISM.

Tonga is a product of the Tonga or Friendly Islands, and has long been used as a domestic remedy by the natives of the Fiji Group. It was introduced to the notice of the medical profession by Drs. Ringer and Murrell, of London, England, who have made some very thorough and most satisfactory experiments as to its therapeutic value.

TONGALINE is an efficacious and elegant preparation of Tonga, with powerful salicylates, and recommends itself to the medical profession. Each fluid drachm of TONGALINE represents: Tonga, 30 grains; Extractum Cimicifugæ Racemosæ, 2 grains; Sodium Salicylate, 10 grains; Pilocarpin Salicylate, 1-100 grain; Colchicin Salicylate, 1-500 grain.

ST. LOUIS, July 20, 1883.
I have found TONGALINE a useful combination in rheumatic neuralgia.
C. H. HUGHES, M.D.

DETROIT, July 12, 1883.
I have tried TONGALINE in two cases of irregularly recurrent facial neuralgia, and with excellent results; it controls the immediate attack in a few hours, two or three at the outside, and often giving almost immediate relief.
F. W. OWEN, M.D.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17, 1883.
I am glad to inform you that the formula for your preparation, TONGALINE, is a very excellent one. Have had occasion to prescribe it in several cases of rheumatic-neuralgic affections of long standing, which seemingly resisted other remedies, and in some of them the TONGALINE produced the most excellent results.
T. GRISWOLD COMSTOCK, A.M., M.D.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Nov. 16, 1883.
I am prescribing TONGALINE with satisfactory results. For the indefinite aches and pains of nervous patients it is superior to any other anodyne. For nervous headache or muscular rheumatism it is almost a specific.
PARK HUTCHIE, M.D.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, July 30, 1883.
I have used your preparation, TONGALINE, extensively, and have been well satisfied with its results. You are to be congratulated on the value of the article which you offer to physicians.
REUBEN A. VANCE, M.D.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 12, 1883.
I have used TONGALINE during the past few weeks in neuralgic affections, many of them in a severe form, with the most gratifying results, and these results have been quite uniform.
T. S. BELL, M.D.

HOSPITALS AND DISPENSARIES.

HOSPITALS AND DISPENSARIES.

Massachusetts General Hospital.

Blossom Street, Boston (Tele. 1575).

Incorporated February 25, 1811; opened for the reception of patients September 3, 1821. From that time until December 31, 1883, 60,677 persons have been treated as in-patients, and since the year 1847, 277,667 as out-patients.

This institution, with the exception of the Pennsylvania Hospital, is the oldest establishment of its kind in the country. During the first year of its existence, it received substantial aid from the State, but, with this exception, it has been entirely supported by voluntary contributions from citizens of Boston and its neighborhood.

Since 1872 four new pavilion wards have been constructed on the grounds of the Hospital. These buildings are called the Jackson, Warren, Bigelow, and Townsend wards respectively, in memory of the valuable services of Drs. James Jackson, J. C. Warren, Jacob Bigelow, and S. D. Townsend.

The Thayer building for nurses was built in 1882, and the Gay Ward, an extensive addition to the out-patient department, in 1883. The former a memorial to the late Nathaniel Thayer, for many years a trustee of the Hospital, and a large contributor to its support; and the latter, a memorial by a friend to the late Dr. George H. Gay, for many years one of the surgeons to the Hospital.

The Hospital has 215 beds. Patients suffering from medical or surgical diseases or injuries are received from any part of the United States or the Provinces. Chronic or incurable cases and such as need only the comforts of a home are, as a rule, refused admission. No contagious diseases are admitted. Application for admission must be made to the Resident Physician at the Hospital between 9 and 11 A. M. and 2 and 3 P. M., Sundays excepted. Accidents admitted at any hour. In urgent cases application may be made at other times. Application for admission of patients from a distance must be made in writing, accompanied by a full description of the case by the attending physician, and, when a free bed is desired, by a statement of the pecuniary condition of the patients. A reply should be awaited before sending the patient. The regular charges to paying patients are as follows: In the Jackson Ward (private), $50 per week; in small room in the Townsend and Bigelow Wards, $25 per week; in the General Wards, $10 per week. These rates, covering only expenses of board and lodging, may be increased or abated in individual cases by the Resident Physician. Five weeks' board must be advanced upon entering (any balance due being refunded), or an obligation with surety for its payment must be furnished. Out-patients are treated from 9 to 10 A. M., Sunday excepted. Ophthalmic patients are treated on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, at 9 A. M.

Friends may be admitted to see patients in the wards on each week-day from 11.30 to 12.30; but no patient in any ward can receive more than one visitor a day.

During the year ending December 31, 1883, there were treated at the hospital 2,185 in-patients, of which number 1,664 were discharged well or relieved. The average number of patients was 168, and the average cost per patient $11.00 per week. Beside those classed as in-patients, 7,102 persons were treated as out-patients in the Medical, Surgical, and Dental Department, which department was open only five months. The Dental Department has been removed from the Hospital to the Medical College in North Grove Street.

Students connected with the Medical and Dental Schools are admitted to the clinical visits of the physicians and surgeons. Abundant opportunity is offered for becoming practically acquainted with disease in its various forms and of witnessing surgical operations. Operations are performed during the winter on Saturday, at 11 A. M., and during the summer on Wednesday and Saturday, at the same hour. The operating theatre is provided with seats for 400 persons.

In April and October of each year one medical and two surgical externes are appointed; serving six months as externes, they are then promoted to house pupils for one year. They are selected from medical students who have completed three years of study, but have not taken their degrees, and enter upon their duties in February and August.

The Massachusetts Training School for Nurses became connected with the Hospital in 1873, and has since done the nursing of the Hospital. To January 1st, 1884, 111 nurses have been graduated. (See page 149.)

A valuable medical library, including particularly many large and expensive works not generally found in private libraries, is connected with the institution, and a large number of journals are taken for the use of the medical staff. The general library for the use of the patients numbers 1,300 volumes.

A new edition of the History of the Hospital, by the late N. I. Bowditch, for which a fund was provided by his will, was issued in 1872, under the editorial care of Rev. George E. Ellis, D. D., one of the trustees at that time.

The Warren Prize, founded by the late Dr. J. Mason Warren, in memory of his father, Dr. John C. Warren, is described on a later page of this volume.

The ambulance of the Hospital, accompanied by a medical officer, will be dispatched to any point within the city proper, for the conveyance of cases of accident, or urgent sudden sickness, not contagious, to the Hospital, or elsewhere, upon notice from a physician, the police, or other responsible source, subject to the approval of the Resident Physician. In cases requiring gratuitous treatment, no charge is made.

Boston City Hospital.

Harrison Avenue, opposite Worcester Square, Boston (Tele. 5470).

As early as 1849, before the cholera, then epidemic, had disappeared, the expediency of establishing a City Hospital for the sick-poor resident in Boston, was agitated. Again, in 1856, further steps were taken, and after temporary use of the building known as the Lying-in Hospital in Springfield Street, the project was abandoned. In 1860, the Mayor, Hon. F. W. Lincoln, Jr., renewed the appeal of his predecessors in office to the City Council. In accordance with his suggestion the land on which the Hospital now stands was appropriated to the purpose.

The buildings, consisting of a Central Administrative Building, — two three-storied Pavilions, with Boiler House and Morgue, were commenced in 1861, dedicated May, 1864, and opened for the reception of patients June 1, 1864. Three years later, a two-storied Pavilion, divided into small rooms, was erected for the reception of infectious and other diseases requiring isolation. The capacity of the Hospital at this time was 225 beds. In 1874 and 1875 the Hospital was further enlarged by the erection of two three-storied buildings, — two one-story Pavilions, a new building for kitchen purposes, and also a building for use of various departments for out-patients.

The old buildings were reconstructed; the system of heating and ventilation was entirely changed, the basements abandoned as wards, and many alterations were made, to conform to the reconstruction.

The Hospital has 375 beds, and is intended for the reception of those only who require temporary relief during sickness. It is further intended for the residents of Boston. The Trustees, however, admit in special cases those not resident in Boston, when compensation is received or guaranteed. Persons accidentally wounded or otherwise disabled or injured, are received and treated at all hours. Separate apartments, and more accommodations than are customary when no compensation is made, are afforded to paying patients. The Hospital is established and maintained mostly by annual appropriations from the municipal government, and is especially intended as a Hospital for acute medical and surgical diseases: exceptional chronic cases with urgent symptoms or capable of speedy relief are sometimes temporarily admitted. Bequests and donations have been given for general or special purposes amounting to $29,500. The total cost of the buildings alone was $610,000. The Hospital was incorporated in 1880.

The Board of Trustees are seven in number; one member of the Board of Aldermen, and one member of the Common Council, are elected each year by concurrent vote of the two branches, to hold office during the municipal year in which they are elected. Five citizens at large are also appointed by the Mayor, subject to the confirmation of the City Council, — one each year for a term of five years.

There are fifteen House Officers, five of whom are appointed each six months by the Trustees, on the nomination of the Hospital Staff, after a rigid examination in the various branches of medicine and surgery.

Two of the persons appointed as House Officers are assigned to serve as Medical Externes for the first six months, as Surgical Internes for the second six months, and as House Surgeons for the last six months; two others of the Appointees are assigned to serve as Surgical Externes for the first six months, as Medical Internes for the second six months, and House Physicians for the last six months; and the remaining Appointee is assigned to serve as Ophthalmic Externe for the first six months, as Ophthalmic Interne and as Interne to Department for diseases of the nervous system, for the second six months, and as House Physician to Department for diseases of the nervous system for the last six months.

Physicians and Surgeons to the various departments for out-patients are in attendance for the treatment of such out-patients as are unable to pay for medical and surgical treatment at their homes within the limit of the City of Boston. In each week as follows, viz.: —

Medical. — Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, from 9 to 11 A. M.
Surgical. — Every day, except Sunday, from 9 to 11 A. M.
Ophthalmic. — Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 9 to 11 A. M.
For Diseases of the Skin. — Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 10 A. M. to 12 M.
For Diseases of the Ear. — Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 9 to 11 A. M.
For Diseases of the Nervous System. — Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 10 A. M. to 12 M.
For Diseases of Women. — Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, from 10 A. M. to 12 M.
For Diseases of the Throat. — Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, from 10 A. M. to 12 M.

Operations are performed in the amphitheatre on Friday at 11 A. M., and are open to physicians or students of medicine. Other visits to the Hospital wards are made only on invitation of the various members of the Hospital Staff.

A Training School for nurses is connected with the Hospital, under charge of the Trustees, and the Superintendent of the Hospital. The school gives instruction to 62 nurses; the particulars of its system and course of instruction will be found on page 152.

The Hospital has a Medical and Surgical Library of about 2,000 volumes, containing many valuable old works, as well as recent medical and surgical literature. It also contains the current leading American and Foreign Medical Journals. The Annual Report of the Trustees and Superintendent is published in May. The Report of the Hospital Staff contained therein presents a classified list of all the cases treated both as in-patients and out-patients.

The Trustees, aided by the members of the Hospital Staff, publish quinquennially Medical and Surgical Reports. These include valuable statistical tables and scientific papers relating to, and based upon, the practice of the Hospital. The reports are not for gratuitous distribution, but may be had of Cupples, Upham & Co., Medical Booksellers, Boston. Price $2.00 per volume.

Ambulances are connected with the Hospital for the purpose of carrying patients to and from the Hospital. Their use is limited to accidents and patients suffering with severe medical or surgical disease, incapable of being transported by ordinary conveyance. It is not the intention of the Trustees that the ambulance shall be used as a convenience or to save carriage hire, and it does not go beyond the city boundaries.

Application for the admission of patients may be made on each day of the week, Sunday excepted, between nine and twelve. Whenever able, the patient must apply in person. When not able to apply in person, application may be made by a friend or by a letter from the last physician in attendance. Whenever in the opinion of the Trustees, the circumstances of the patient warrant it, the whole or a part of the board must be paid. Persons having acute venereal disease or alcoholism are not admitted as free patients. Friends are permitted to visit patients on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday of each week from 2 to 3 P. M. No patient is allowed to receive more than two visitors on the same day. Positively no visiting on Sunday, except to patients occupying private rooms or ward-patients dangerously ill.

From the opening of the Hospital, June 1, 1864, to the close of the last hospital year, April 30, 1883, there were examined for admission, 77,327; patients admitted, 56,897; patients received, accidentally injured, 10,234; number of out-patients treated, 158,953. During the Hospital year ending April 30, 1883, there were treated in the Hospital, 4,702 patients; daily average, 286. Number of out-patients, 12,174. Number of visits made by out-patients, 40,623. Number of patients admitted with accidental injuries, 666; and of all patients treated in the Hospital, 473 died, of whom 149 died within 48 hours after admission. The cost per patient was $8.91 per week.

McLean Asylum for the Insane.

Washington Street, Somerville. (Tele. 6841.)

The McLean Asylum is a branch of the Massachusetts General Hospital, and is under the control of its board of officers. It was opened for the reception of patients October 6, 1818. It received its name from John McLean, who, at his decease, bequeathed the sum of $100,000 to the institution. From the date of its opening to December 31, 1883, 6,713 patients had been received. During the last year, 270 patients have been treated, of whom 38 were discharged recovered, and 25 much improved, or improved. The daily average number of patients was 164. Rate of board from fifteen to fifty dollars per week. The report of the Asylum is published annually in connection with that of the Hospital.

In June, 1875, the Trustees purchased for $75,000 a tract of land containing about 107 acres, in Belmont, about seven miles from Boston, on the Fitchburg Railroad, for the use of the Asylum. The situation is one of great beauty, elevated and salubrious. The greater part of the tract is now covered by a fine growth of trees, and an apparently copious supply of water is found at a convenient distance. Roads have been made, and studies of building plans are in progress.

Boston Lying-in Hospital.

24 McLean Street, Boston. (Tele. 1789.)

Organized in 1832, for the relief of poor and deserving women during confinement. The first building for the use of the Hospital was situated on Washington Street, near the present site of Rollins Street. In 1853 the Corporation bought 40,000 feet of land on Springfield and Worcester streets, on which the building now used by the Home for Aged Men was erected.

For several years prior to 1872, the Hospital had not, by itself, furnished the accommodation for lying-in women for which its charter provided; the objects of the institution were, however, carried out by the annual contribution of $1,000 to the New England Hospital for Women and Children, at which place the same class of patients was cared for. This donation ceased in 1871, and in January, 1873, the Board of Trustees opened the house numbered 24 McLean Street, with accommodations for 18 patients. In April, 1876, the next house was added, with wards for 18 additional patients.

Urgent cases are received at any time. Whenever it is possible, application for admission must be made to the attending physician at the Hospital, at least one week before the expected date of confinement, between 10 and 11 o'clock on any week day.

The fee for patients living in Boston is twenty dollars; for those living elsewhere thirty dollars. This fee will cover the confinement, and board for the two following weeks, and for any further time during which the patient may be unable to leave the hospital. Deserving women, who are residents of Boston, and are unable to pay the above fee, are admitted free.

The two weeks' board must be paid upon entrance, or an obligation with surety for its payment must be furnished; and in no case will any portion of this sum be refunded, should the patient leave the Hospital before the expiration of the two weeks.

The Hospital will also provide free medical attendance during confinement for needy women, at their residences, within the limits of the city proper. It is advisable that application for attendance at home should be made at least ten days before the expected date of confinement.

Wet-nurses can usually be obtained at the Hospital. The fee for a wet-nurse is ten dollars.

Relatives may visit patients every day except Sunday, from 3 to 4 P. M.

Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary.

176 Charles Street, Boston. (Tele. 4345.)

This institution owes its origin to Drs. Edward Reynolds and John Jeffries, who, in November, 1824, opened a small room in Scollay's Building as a dispensary for the gratuitous treatment of the poor, afflicted with diseases of the eye. In March, 1826, the success of their efforts had been such that their dispensary was regularly organized as the Boston Eye Infirmary. A month later it was incorporated by the State Legislature under its present title. It was soon after removed to Court Street, and six years later to the Gore Mansion in Green Street, where it remained until 1850. It was then removed to the building now occupied in Charles Street, which was dedicated July 3 of that year.

To meet the increasing demands upon the out-patient department of the Infirmary, a new wing has recently been added. This addition includes, on the first floor, a spacious waiting-room for patients, four examination rooms, an office for the Superintendent, and a consulting room; on the second floor are the apartments of the Internes, an operating room, and lecture room, and separate rooms for operative cases, affording fourteen beds.

The arrangement for simultaneous service of several surgeons, and for the reception and treatment of a large number of patients, is believed to be the most complete in this country.

The Infirmary receives all patients with diseases of the eye and ear, making application for treatment. More than 10,000 patients are annually treated. The Infirmary is open daily, except Sunday, from 9 to 11 A. M. Patients who require admission as boarders may be received on payment of at least five dollars per week; three weeks' board must be paid in advance. All applications for admission must be made at the Infirmary. The number of beds is fifty.

Patients may be visited by their friends daily, except Sunday, between 11 and 12.

Physicians are invited to attend the practice of the surgeons, any day, from 9 to 11 o'clock. Students are admitted on Monday and Friday, throughout the year, from 9 to 11 o'clock. Clinical instruction is given to physicians and students by members of the staff.

Annual meeting of the Corporation the last Thursday in October. The Board of Managers meet on the first Tuesday of November, February, May, and August.

Incorporated March 16, 1877, for the purpose of establishing and maintaining a hospital to afford care and relief to indigent debilitated, nervous persons, inhabitants of the State, who are not insane and who may be in need of the benefit of a curative institution. The asylum owes its origin to Seth Adams, late of Newton, who bequeathed to it a large amount by his last will. It also receives for treatment persons, not indigent, who may be otherwise suitable for remedial treatment. Patients were first received in February, 1880, in the dwelling-house purchased with the estate occupied by the Asylum; the new asylum building was first used in December, 1880. The institution will accommodate about 30 patients. Only female patients are received at present. Applications for admission must be made to the Superintendent. A certificate will be required from the attending physician that the patient is suffering from disease of the nervous system, and is not insane, and that in his opinion the patient can be cured or materially benefited by treatment at the Asylum.

Boston Dispensary.

Bennet and Ash Streets, Boston.

Founded in 1796, and incorporated in 1801. This was the first institution of the kind in Boston, and the third in the United States. It is supported entirely by funds heretofore contributed, and by private charity. It does not receive any support or assistance from the city. At present the operations of the Dispensary are extended only over that part known as the city proper, East and South Boston. The remaining portions of the city are otherwise provided for.

The central office is situated near the centre of population and is convenient of access. It was opened for use in 1856. During the year 1883 the old building of the Dispensary was torn down and, in November, the officers and patients were first accommodated in a new building which had been erected; a description of the building may be found in the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal of November 29, 1883.

Physicians are in attendance daily, who treat respectively men, women, children, and surgical cases. At 10 o'clock, daily, dental patients are treated; at 11, those suffering from diseases of the skin; and at the same hour, cases of nervous diseases.

In addition to the service at the central office, the city is divided into nine districts, and to each one is assigned a physician, whose duty it is to care for those unable to leave their homes. Medicines are given out at the central office daily, from 8 A. M. to 7 P. M.; on Sundays from 1 to 2 P. M.; and on legal holidays, from 9 to 10 A. M.

Since October, 1796, 841,712 patients have been treated; since July 1, 1856, 722,909 patients have been treated at the central office and in the districts. During the year ending September 30, 1883, 14,382 cases were treated at the central office, and 12,915 cases in the districts, — an aggregate of 27,297 patients. The number of recipes put up was 32,058, of which 30,158 were paid and 1,900 free. The average daily attendance at the office was 84. The services of the staff are rendered gratuitously at the central office; in the districts, the physicians receive a moderate compensation.

Students are permitted to attend the practice of the physicians and surgeons, on Tuesday and Friday, at 9 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the Corporation is held on the second Thursday in October.

The annual report of the Dispensary is published in November.

Washburn Free Dispensary.

98 Front Street, Worcester.

Incorporated April 20, 1871, in accordance with provisions in the will of Ichabod Washburn.

A sum of money, the present value of which exceeds $150,000, was left to trustees in the city of Worcester by the late Ichabod Washburn in 1869, with directions that, at the end of five years from his death, it should be expended in the foundation and maintenance of a hospital and dispensary in memory of his deceased daughters.

As the Washburn fund could not at once be made available, it was thought advisable to organize the dispensary at an earlier date. Negotiations have since been entered into by which it is hoped that the Washburn legacy may be combined with that given to the city by the late George Jaques.

Maine General Hospital.

Congress Street, Portland.

The Hospital owes its existence to the concerted action of the physicians of the State Medical Society, who in 1867 appointed a committee, of which the late Dr. John T. Gilman was chairman, to memorialize the Legislature for an act of incorporation for a State General Hospital, to be located in Portland, and for an appropriation sufficient to secure its foundation. The bill incorporating the Hospital was passed in February, 1868, and by a subsequent enactment in 1870, the State ceded to the Corporation, on certain conditions, the lot of land, the site of the State Arsenal on Bramhall's Hill, for the desired purpose. By a grant from the city of Portland the Corporation enlarged its limits, the property now embracing more than seven acres, bounded on three sides by streets, and with a frontage on Congress and Arsenal streets of more than five hundred feet. The Hospital is situated 145 feet above the level of the sea, and commands an extended view in all directions.

The complete plan contemplates the erection of four pavilions, giving the Hospital a capacity of 200 beds. At present it consists of a centre administrative building and a pavilion ward, three stories high, 145 feet in length, with the necessary kitchen and boiler-house. It was dedicated October 22, 1874, and the first patient was received November 9.

For the year ending October, 1883, 418 patients were treated. The average cost for each patient was $11.23 per week.

Application for the admission of patients must be made to the resident physician at the Hospital between the hours of 9 and 11 on any day of the week, except Sunday. Persons accidentally wounded are received at any hour. The price of board for paying patients varies from seven to twenty-five dollars per week, according to the accommodation furnished. Visitors are admitted to see patients between 2 and 3 on any week day.

The annual meeting of the Corporation is held on the first Tuesday of October. The Board of Directors holds a quarterly meeting at the Hospital on the Friday preceding the first Monday of January, April, July, and October.

The Mary Fletcher Hospital.

Colchester Avenue, Burlington, Vt.

Incorporated in 1876, and opened January 22, 1879. The Hospital owes its origin to Miss Mary Fletcher, of Burlington, who gave the sum of $200,000 for its erection.

The Hospital consists of an administrative building, with a large number of rooms for private patients, and two pavilion-wards. In a separate building, connecting with the wards and administrative building by a corridor, is a large amphitheatre, capable of seating nearly two hundred persons. Rooms for out-patients are also attached to this building.

The regulations for the admission of patients are as follows: No patient suffering from any contagious or infectious disease is admitted, nor any lunatic, nor any maternity case. The regular price of treatment is ten dollars per week. Reductions from this price will be made when satisfactory proof is furnished of the inability of the patient to pay full rates. A limited number of free beds are available for those whose circumstances render them fit subjects for such charity. Applications from outside of Burlington must be made in writing, addressed to the Superintendent, by the attending physician of the patient, accompanied by a full description of the case, and when a free bed or reduced rates are desired, by a statement of the pecuniary circumstances of the patient. Incurable cases, and those which admit of only temporary relief, are not regarded, in general, as suitable subjects for admission.

The number of beds is thirty-five; the number treated each year is about one hundred and fifty.

Providence, R. I.

In October, 1851, the Providence Medical Association appointed a committee to consider the necessity of organizing a hospital for the State, and to report a mode in which it might be most effectually brought to the consideration of the public. This was done at the instance of Dr. Usher Parsons. In the following year the society again addressed a petition to the City Council of Providence, asking the gift of a certain lot of land for the use of the Hospital. Neither of these plans, however, succeeded.

In the spring of 1863, Messrs. R. H. Ives, and his son, Thomas P. Ives, trustees of the estate of Moses B. Ives, of Providence, invited the physicians of Providence to apply for an act of incorporation for a hospital, and it was granted in March of that year. The sum of $40,000 was given by the trustees, and additional sums of $25,000 and $10,000 by themselves respectively. Mr. R. H. Ives, at later periods still, further added to his donations to the Hospital — the aggregate of his gifts amounting, at his death, to over $61,000. The land, which had been used for hospital purposes for three quarters of a century by the people of Providence, was given by the city.

The Hospital was opened October 1, 1868. An administrative building in the centre and two pavilions, all of brick, have, thus far, been constructed, with accommodation for 125 patients.

Application for admission must be made by the patients in person, if possible. A limited number of free beds have been already endowed.

Visitors are admitted to see patients on each day of the week, from 1 to 2.

Physicians, and students of medicine of one year's standing are allowed to attend the clinics of the physicians and surgeons.

Butler Hospital for the Insane.

Butler Avenue and North Street, Providence, R. I.

The Butler Hospital for the Insane had its origin in a bequest of the late Hon. Nicholas Brown, of Providence, R. I., who died in September, 1841. Mr. Brown directed in his will that the sum of thirty thousand dollars be appropriated to the purpose of aiding in the establishment of a hospital for the insane, "where that unhappy class of our fellow-beings who are, by the visitation of Providence, deprived of their reason, may find a safe retreat, and be provided with whatever may be most conducive to their comfort and their restoration to a sound mind." In 1844, Cyrus Butler, Esq., a venerable merchant of Providence, whose mind had long been impressed with the great desirableness of such an institution, offered to add to the bequest of Mr. Brown the sum of forty thousand dollars, on condition that an equal sum should be raised by subscription. The condition was speedily fulfilled by the contributions of benevolent persons throughout the community. A charter of incorporation having already been obtained from the General Assembly, the first meeting of the Corporation was held March 20, 1844, and the hospital building was completed and opened for the reception of patients December 1, 1847. Since that time several important additions have been made. The "Ray Hall" was completed in the year 1866. It was the joint gift to the Hospital of Alexander Duncan and Robert H. Ives, and was named in honor of Dr. Isaac Ray, the Superintendent of the Hospital from its commencement to January, 1867. The Ray Hall contains a museum, a reading-room, billiard-room, and bowling-alleys for the use of patients. Within a few years a large addition has been made to the east wing of the Hospital. It contains rooms for thirty patients, and many special arrangements suggested by experience, and is intended to furnish the best attainable conditions for the treatment of insanity in its active and curable stage. The Hospital was enabled to erect this addition by the liberality of Alexander Duncan, Esq., who gave towards defraying its cost the generous sum of $30,000. It was named in honor of David Duncan, for nine years a trustee, and liberal friend of the Hospital.

The whole number of patients who have been admitted for treatment, to July 1, 1883, is 3,044. The number of patients usually present in the Hospital is about 175.

The claims for

as the most reliable food for all conditions of Infancy and Childhood is not based upon theory.

RIDGE'S FOOD

HAS SUCCESSFULLY REARED MORE CHILDREN THAN ALL OTHER FOODS COMBINED.

There is no better evidence of the merits of an article than the statements of the experiences of those who have used it, and know its results. There are generally "testimonials" to accompany almost every announcement of preparations that are intended to benefit the public, but, in many cases they come from a distance, and necessarily lack the weight which near locality would give. Here is one, however, which comes directly from home:—

"BOSTON, MASS., July 2, 1883.

"Nine years ago a puny infant niece of mine was taken from the arms of its consumptive mother to be cared for temporarily in my family. My wife put it immediately upon a diet of RIDGE'S FOOD exclusively. The healthful growth of the child was very remarkable, and, at the end of three months, when returned to its home, it had become such a plump, rosy-cheeked child as to be hardly recognizable even to its mother. The child has ever since enjoyed perfect health. I have known of several other cases of the use of RIDGE'S FOOD among my neighbors and friends, and always with the same satisfactory results. DAN'L L. MILLIKEN, Editor the Cottage Hearth."

This letter tells the merits of RIDGE'S FOOD better than any proclamation of its virtues could do. The writer is a man well-known in this community as one whose word is thoroughly reliable, and, as a journalist, he would be very cautious regarding the use of his name. There are thousands of parents all over the land who will cheerfully endorse this testimonial, for RIDGE'S FOOD is no stranger in the community.

A PHYSICIAN OF LARGE PRACTICE SAYS OF RIDGE'S FOOD:—

"I can say of this preparation of food that it has never failed me, or failed to agree when given strictly according to my directions. With scrupulous care there need be very little trouble from bowel complaints, and to this I ascribe the fact that I have never lost a child with any form of diarrhœa or cholera infantum."

ANY HOSPITAL OR CHARITABLE INSTITUTION THAT DESIRES TO MAKE A TEST OF

are invited to send to

WOOLRICH & CO., MFRS.,

PALMER, MASS.,

for a sample case. Many such are constantly using it.

Boston Asylum and Farm School for Indigent Boys.

Thompson's Island, Boston Harbor.

The institution bearing this name was incorporated in 1835, and was formed by the union of two earlier organizations, the Boston Asylum for Indigent Boys and the Proprietors of the Boston Farm School. The first originated in 1813, and the second in 1832. Its object is to provide a good home for those boys who have lost one or both parents, and have no homes of their own. The boys are either received with the understanding that their board is to be paid, in which case they can be taken away at any time, or they are given up to the Farm School, and remain until such time as the Directors see fit to apprentice them where they can learn to support themselves. The usual number of boys is 100.

The annual meeting is held the second Tuesday in January.

The Committee on Admissions meets the first Tuesday in every month at 9 Doane Street, at 10 o'clock.

Temporary Home for the Destitute.

1 Pine Place, Boston.

This institution is sustained by an organization formed in February, 1847, and due to the efforts of John Augustus, a poor shoemaker, and Eliza Garnaut, two benevolent citizens of Boston. It was incorporated in February, 1852, for the temporary reception of persons, over nine months of age, with the purpose of securing them permanent homes.

Lately a few infants have been received. Relief is gratuitous. No prescribed time or conditions of admission. Since the opening of the Home 5,000 persons have been cared for. The house will accommodate about 30.

The annual meeting is held in December.

Massachusetts School for the Feeble-Minded.

723 Eighth Street, South Boston.

Organized in 1848, as the result of the enthusiasm and energy of the late Dr. S. G. Howe, for the instruction and training of all grades of feeble-minded children, — distinctly as a school and not as a merely custodial institution. The best age for admission is between eight and twelve years. The institution is not intended for epileptic nor for insane children, nor for those who are incurably hydrocephalic or paralytic.

An act of the Legislature passed in 1883, in addition to changing the name of the School, further provides for the establishment of a department thereof as an asylum for idiots who are beyond the school age, or are not capable of being benefited by school instruction.

Judges of probate or municipal courts may send persons to the School if certified as idiotic by a physician, who is a graduate of a legally organized medical college, and has practised three years in the State. The order of committal is subject to the approval of the Trustees.

The support of the School is collected from town, city, or county, or from the State, for all persons who have no property, or kindred able to support them, at a rate to be established, for the support of State, city, and town paupers, in State lunatic hospitals. This provision supersedes the annual State appropriation, and virtually places the institution upon the same footing as the state lunatic hospitals, in regard to its sources of income.

Residents of other New England States may avail themselves of the School, as State beneficiaries, upon the nomination of their Governors. Forms of application and information will be furnished by the Assistant Superintendent, Dr. A. G. Smith, at the School.

The average number of inmates during the year ending September 30, 1883, was 144; average weekly cost, $3.30.

Applicants for assistance should be referred to the office of the association. It is the intention of the association to meet every real want of the destitute

The office of the Board is at Room 41, Charity Building, where, under its system of registration, information concerning the relief given and the character of the beneficiaries of forty-seven benevolent agencies and many individuals is received in confidence, recorded, and exchanged. Inquiries from persons known to be charitably interested in any family are promptly answered. Over 8,000 families were registered last season.

Massachusetts Infant Asylum.

Near Boylston Station, Jamaica Plain (Tele. 8274).

The institution was incorporated May 15, 1867, for the purpose of assisting and providing for deserted and destitute infant children. During the last week in November, 1875, the Asylum was removed from its old quarters in Brookline to new buildings of its own on Chestnut Avenue, Jamaica Plain, near the Boylston Station on the Providence Railroad. In 1879 a Branch was established at West Medford. The building in Jamaica Plain consists of two wings, of two stories each, connected by a corridor of one story. The classes of children, for whom support is provided, are foundlings, whose parentage is unknown; infants deserted by their known parents, or left orphans at a tender age; the infant children of women unable to support them entirely, who can pay a part of their cost or can take some part in the care of them. These classes are received in the order of their necessities. As many mothers are retained as wet nurses as the necessities of the institution demand. Infants are also sent to good nurses outside the Asylum, either by procuring their adoption or by paying their board. In carrying out their object, the directors endeavor, at all times, to keep in mind the true relations between parents, when living, and their children, and obtain the support of the child from its parents or kindred, whenever it can be done.

The annual meeting of the Corporation is held on the second Tuesday in April. The Directors meet on the first Tuesday of each month.

Application for the admission of infants must be made to the Secretary of the Committee on Admissions, Miss A. P. Cary, 64 Beacon Street, Boston, on Tuesdays, from 9 to 10 A. M., or by letter at any time; or to Dr. C. P. Putnam, 63 Marlboro' Street, at 1 daily. No child, born out of the State, is received, except under the provisions of the law; nor is any child taken if over nine months of age. All children are submitted to medical examination before admission.

Application for children for adoption may be made to the matron at the Asylum, or to a member of the Adoption Committee.

Visitors will be admitted on any day except Sunday, between 1 and 5.

The maximum number of children under the care of the Asylum at any one time is 100, of whom about three-fourths are boarded out in families.

U. S. Army — Medical Service.

Brig. Gen. ROBERT MURRAY, M. D., Surgeon-General, Washington, D. C.

THE following memorandum has been issued for the information of persons desirous of entering the Medical Corps of the United States Army: —

[EXTRACTS FROM LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES.]

Act of Congress, approved June 30, 1834.

SECT. 1. Be it enacted, etc., That from and after the passage of this act no person shall receive the appointment of assistant surgeon in the army of the United States, unless he shall have been examined and approved by an army medical board, to consist of not less than three surgeons or assistant surgeons, who shall be designated for that purpose by the Secretary of War; and no person shall receive the appointment of surgeon in the army of the United States, unless he shall have served at least five years as an assistant surgeon, and unless, also, he shall have been examined by an army medical board constituted as aforesaid.

Act of Congress, approved June 23, 1874, and June 26, 1876.

The medical department of the army shall hereafter consist of one surgeon-general, . . . one assistant surgeon-general, . . . one chief medical purveyor, four surgeons, with the rank, pay, and emoluments of colonels, two assistant medical purveyors, . . . eight surgeons, with the rank, pay, and emoluments of lieutenant-colonels, fifty surgeons, with the rank, pay, and emoluments of majors, one hundred and twenty-five assistant surgeons, with the rank, pay,[1] and emoluments of lieutenants of cavalry for the first five years' service, and with the rank, pay,[1] and emoluments of captains of cavalry after five years' service. . . .

All candidates for appointment in the medical corps must apply to the Hon. Secretary of War for an invitation to appear before the Medical Examining Board. The application must be in the handwriting of the candidate, stating age and birthplace, and be accompanied by testimonials from professors of the college in which he graduated, or from other physicians of good repute. The candidate must be between twenty-one and twenty-eight years of age (without any exceptions), and a graduate of a regular medical college, — evidence of which, his diploma, must be submitted to the Board. [¶ 2273 A. R. 1881.]

The morals, habits, and physical and mental qualifications and general aptitude for the service of each candidate, will be subjects for careful examination by the Board, and a favorable report will not be made in any case in which there is a reasonable doubt. [¶ 2274 A. R. 1881.]

The following will be the general plan of the examination: —

I. A short essay, either autobiographical or upon some professional subject to be indicated by the Board.

II. Physical examination. This will be rigid, and each candidate will, in addition, be required to certify "That he labors under no mental or physical infirmity, nor disability of any kind, which can in any way interfere with the most efficient discharge of any duty which may be required."

III. Oral examination on subjects of preliminary education, general literature, and general science. The board will satisfy itself by an actual examination that the candidate possesses a thorough knowledge of the branches taught in the common schools, especially of English grammar, arithmetic, and history and geography of the United States. Any candidate found deficient in these branches will not be examined further.

Oral examination on general science will include chemistry and natural philosophy; and that on general literature will embrace English literature, Latin, and general history, ancient and modern. Candidates claiming proficiency in other branches of knowledge, such as the higher mathematics, the ancient and modern languages, etc., will be examined therein, and receive due credit therefor.

Written examination on anatomy, physiology, surgery, practice of medicine and general pathology, obstetrics, and diseases of women and children. Oral examination on these subjects, and also on medical jurisprudence, materia-medica, therapeutics, pharmacy, toxicology, and hygiene. Few candidates pay the attention to hygiene which it deserves; it is always made a subject of this examination, and will be considered a vital one in the examination for promotion after the expiration of five years' service.

[1] 2,000 per annum.

V. Clinical examination, medical and surgical, at a hospital.

VI. Performance of surgical operations on the cadaver.

Due credit will be given for Hospital training, and practical experience in Surgery, Practice of Medicine, and Obstetrics.

The Board will deviate from this general plan whenever necessary, in such manner as they deem best to secure the interests of the service. [¶ 2275, A. R. 1881.]

The Board will report the merits of the candidates on the several branches of the examination, and their relative merit in the whole, according to which the approved candidates will receive appointments to existing vacancies, or to vacancies which may occur within two years thereafter. [¶ 2276, A. R. 1881.]

An applicant failing one examination, may be allowed a second after one year, but not a third. [¶2277, A. R. 1881.]

No allowance will be made for the expenses of persons undergoing examination, but those who are approved and receive appointments will be entitled to transportation in obeying their first order assigning them to duty. [¶2278, A. R. 1881.]

An Assistant Surgeon on appointment receives $1,600 per annum (payable monthly), with quarters, and mileage (8 cents per mile), when travelling under orders.

The Marine Hospital Service of the United States, which furnishes medical and surgical relief to the sick and disabled seamen of the American mercantile marine, was established by Act of Congress, July 16, 1798, and reorganized by Acts of Congress, June 29, 1870, and March 3, 1875. The service is under the charge of a Supervising Surgeon-General, who is appointed by the President, by and with the advice of the Senate, and who is charged by law, "under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, with the supervision of all matters connected with the Marine Hospital Service of the United States, and with the disbursement of the fund."

Relief is furnished to seamen at nearly one hundred ports of the ocean, gulf, and inland waters, either in hospitals established and maintained by the government exclusively for seamen, or in private or municipal institutions, with which arrangements are made from time to time. During the year ending June 30, 1883, 40,195 patients received relief from the Service, of whom 13,356 were treated in the hospitals, and 26,839 at the dispensaries. The service is supported by a tax of forty cents per month, as "hospital dues," upon the wages of all persons serving upon documented vessels of the United States, engaged in the commerce of the oceans, lakes, and rivers, and upon the officers and men of the revenue cutters. Fishing vessels, canal boats, and private yachts are not included. A sick or disabled seaman, to obtain relief, must apply to a medical officer of the Marine Hospital Service, or to a United States collector of customs, and must furnish evidence that he has been actually employed as an American seaman. Relief is not furnished to indigent seamen, not sick or disabled, or to seamen who have abandoned their vocation for any other employment.

The medical corps consists of the Supervising Surgeon-General, and of Surgeons, Passed Assistant Surgeons, Assistant Surgeons, and a Medical Purveyor. Appointments to the service are made, after examination by a board of surgeons, to the grade of Assistant Surgeon. The service makes use of the nomenclature of diseases adopted by the Royal College of Physicians of London. A report of its transactions is issued annually.

The district of the North Atlantic embraces the following-named relief stations, namely: Bangor, Maine; Barnstable, Mass.; Bath, Maine; Belfast, Maine; Boston, Mass.; Bristol, R. I.; Burlington, Vt.; Castine, Maine; Eastport, Maine; Edgartown, Mass.; Ellsworth, Maine; Fall River, Mass.; Gloucester, Mass.; Hyannis, Mass.; Kennebunk, Maine; Machias, Maine; Marblehead, Mass.; Nantucket, Mass.; New Bedford, Mass.; Newburyport, Mass.; Newport, R. I.; Plattsburg, N. Y.; Plymouth, Mass.; Portland, Maine; Portsmouth, N. H.; Providence, R. I.; Rockland, Maine; Saco, Maine; Salem, Mass.;

Vineyard Haven, Mass.; Waldoboro', Maine; Wiscasset, Maine; and York, Maine.

The district of the Middle Atlantic includes Bridgeport, Conn.; Middletown, Conn.; New Haven, Conn.; New London, Conn.; and Stonington, Conn.

All relief stations where the service is under the charge of a medical officer of the Marine Hospital Service are known as relief-stations of Class 1. Relief-stations where specific arrangements have been made for the care and treatment of sick or disabled seamen at rates fixed by the Treasury Department, but where collectors of customs, on account of the absence of a medical officer of the service, are authorized and required to issue permits, and to supervise the relief furnished, are known as relief-stations of Class 2. All other ports where there are officers of the customs revenue, but where, on account of the infrequency of applications for relief, the absence of any hospital, or from other causes, sick or disabled seamen are cared for only in cases of emergency, are known as relief-stations of Class 3.

The Marine Hospital for the Port of Boston was originally established in Charlestown in 1802; a second building was built at Chelsea in 1825–27. The present building, which has accommodations for 100 patients, cost $394,424, and was completed and occupied about 1860. The office for the reception of patients and for the treatment of those not requiring hospital relief, is at the Custom House in Boston. About 800 patients are treated annually. The Marine Hospital at Portland has accommodations for 50 patients, and is situated about three miles from the centre of the city, on Casco Bay. The Hospital was commenced in 1852, and completed in 1859, at a cost of $122,837. About 160 patients are treated annually. A hospital has recently been established by the service at Vineyard Haven, Mass.

State Analysts.

By the Act of Legislature (Acts and Resolves, 1882, 263), the State Board of Health, Lunacy, and Charity were entrusted with the supervision of the sale of food and drugs, and empowered to make such inspections and analyses as are necessary, and also to appoint the proper officers for doing the work. The Legislature of 1883 conferred additional power upon the same board by requiring them to make prosecutions under the Act of 1883, increasing the original appropriation and also requiring two-fifths of it to be expended in enforcing the laws to prevent the adulteration of milk. The Act relating to the adulteration of food and drugs is given on a later page.

The Board voted, August 12, 1883, to adopt the following regulations to assist in the execution of the provisions of the Act relating to the adulteration of food and drugs, pursuant to chapter 263 of the Acts of 1882: —

First. The State Board of Health, Lunacy, and Charity shall appoint two analysts, to one of whom shall be chiefly assigned the duty of examining drugs, and to the other that of examining articles of food, each analyst to hold office during the pleasure of the Board.

Second. It shall be the duty of the analysts so appointed to determine by proper examination and analysis whether articles of food and drugs manufactured for sale, offered for sale, or sold within this Commonwealth are adulterated within the meaning of chapter 263 of the acts and resolves passed by the General Court of Massachusetts in 1882, adulteration being defined as follows, viz., In the case of drugs: (1) If sold under or by a name recognized in the United States Pharmacopœia, it differs from the standard of strength, quality or purity laid down therein; (2) If when sold under or by a name not recognized in the United States Pharmacopœia, but which is found in some other pharmacopœia or other standard work on materia medica, it differs materially from the standard of strength, quality or purity laid down in such work; (3) If its strength or purity falls below the professed standard under which it is sold.

In the case of food: (1) If any substance or substances have been mixed with it so as to reduce, or lower, or injuriously affect its quality or strength; (2) If any inferior or cheaper substance or substances have been substituted wholly or in part for it; (3) If any valuable constituent has been wholly or in part abstracted from it; (4) If it is an imitation of, or is sold under the name of, another article; (5) If it contains wholly or in part of a diseased, decomposed, putrid or rotten animal or vegetable substance, whether manufactured or not, or in the case of milk, if it is the produce of a diseased animal; (6) If it is colored, coated, polished, or powdered, whereby damage is concealed, or if it is made to appear better or of greater value than it really is; (7) If it contains any added poisonous ingredient, or any ingredient which may render it injurious to the health of a person consuming it.

Third. The analysts shall procure, in the manner provided by the act, or in any legal and proper manner, and with reasonable diligence, drugs and articles of food included in the provisions of this act, for the purpose of examination and analysis, and shall report to the Board the result thereof, together with such suggestions as they may deem necessary to the efficient enforcement of the law.

Fourth. They shall also report to the Board from time to time, such articles, mixtures or compounds as, in their judgment, should be declared exempt from the provisions of the act; and they shall present to the Board lists of such articles or preparations, for publication by the Board, if the latter deems proper.

Fifth. Should the result obtained by either analyst be questioned, the other analyst shall repeat the analysis, unless otherwise instructed by the Board, provided a sufficient sum to meet the expense of the analysis be deposited with the Health Officer, by any interested party feeling aggrieved, which sum will not be returned unless the second analysis fails to confirm the first in essential particulars.

Sixth. Any appeal from the decision of an analyst shall be filed with the Health Officer, who shall report it, and any matter in controversy, to the Board, giving his judgment thereon, and the Board shall supervise and control the action of its officers in executing this act.

Seventh. Where standards of strength, quality or purity are not fixed by the act, the analysts shall present to the Health Officer such standard as in their judgment should be fixed, and the Health Officer shall report the same to the Board for its action. The standards set by the British Society of Public Analysts will be followed as nearly as practicable, until otherwise ordered.

Eighth. Whenever a drug or preparation, not described in a National Pharmacopœia, or other standard work on materia medica, shall be manufactured, offered for sale, or used in this State, the standard of such drug, and the standard and proportion of the ingredients of such preparation, and the range of variability from such standard or standards shall be ascertained by the analysts, who shall report the same through the Health Officer to the Board.

Ninth. Twelfth. The yearly compensation of the analyst of articles of food shall be $1,500; and that of the analyst of drugs shall be $1,000.

Sanitary Protective Association.

Newport, R. I.

Established November 11, 1878, and incorporated in 1879, for the following objects: —

1st. To provide its members, at moderate cost, with such advice and supervision as shall insure the proper sanitary condition of their own dwellings.

2d. To enable members to procure practical advice, on moderate terms, as to the best means of remedying defects in houses of the poorer class, in which they may be interested.

3d. To aid in improving the sanitary condition of the city.

The first inspection does not cause any disturbance to household arrangements. It is followed by a report making specific recommendations, if any improvements in the household arrangements are thought necessary. The members are not bound to carry out these recommendations.

The subsequent annual inspection will, so long as the sanitary arrangements remain in working order, entail no expense beyond the annual subscription.

Each member is entitled to the following privileges in respect to property within the municipality of Newport.

1. An immediate report by the Inspecting Engineer of the Association on the sanitary condition of one dwelling or property, with specific recommendations, if necessary, as to the improvement of drainage, water supply, and ventilation, and a report upon the water by the Analyst.

2. An annual inspection of his premises, with a report as to their sanitary condition.

3. Occasional supplementary inspection and advice concerning the dwelling or property in respect of which he is a subscriber.

4. Each member by his annual payment secures the above privileges in respect of one dwelling or property occupied or designated by him. Should he be interested in two or more dwellings or properties, as owner or occupant, he may secure equal privileges in respect to them all, by paying the annual subscription for each.

5. A report, to be obtainable on payment of a special fee, on any dwelling or property, or plans thereof, which he may wish to hire or purchase.

6. Reports by the officers of the Association as to the sanitary condition of any dwellings or properties of the very poor, on payment of a moderate fee.

7. A report, without fee, upon the sanitary condition of any public building, as church, school-house, or place of public resort, within the city of Newport.

Persons become members upon payment of an annual subscription, which, for original members, is limited to six dollars for permanent residents of Newport, and ten dollars for those whose houses are closed for a portion of the year; this difference being based upon the fact that premises continuously occupied are more likely to be kept in good order, and therefore to require less rigid and extensive examination. Membership shall cease upon failure at any time to pay this annual subscription within three months after it shall have become due.

A meeting of the Association is held annually, on the second Monday of November.

The Massachusetts Medical Examiner System.

The method of inquiry now employed in Massachusetts in cases of death by violence is no longer a matter of mere experiment. The law enacted in 1877, known as the Medical Examiner Law, effected a radical change throughout the State, whereby the old Coroner system was abolished, and an entirely different plan of operation was substituted in its place.

The principal points of importance in the present law are, the abolition of the coroner's jury, and the proper division of the investigation into its medical and its legal parts, the former being entrusted to intelligent, educated medical men, and the latter to properly qualified legal officers. A similar process has been the rule for centuries among all the continental nations of Europe, and also in Scotland. The useless relic of Saxon times known as the coroner's jury, was more expensive, more liable to abuse, and more clumsy in its operation than the continental method, and its verdict too often a subject of popular ridicule.

In proof that the present system of Massachusetts has been a thoroughly successful one, and also perfectly satisfactory to the people as well as to the medical and the legal profession, it is only necessary to state that since its introduction in 1877, about 9,000 cases of violent, sudden, and suspicious death have been investigated in a satisfactory manner in Massachusetts, without any complaint from any one as to the abolition of the Coroner and his Jury.

The present system commends itself to every State in the Union in which the Coroner's system is still in use.

No essential modifications of the law have been made since its first enactment in 1877, the law as now expressed in the Public Statutes, published in 1882, being the same as that which was enacted in 1877, with an additional provision for an Associate Medical Examiner in Suffolk County, and also with a specific definition of each Medical Examiner District as apportioned by the County Commissioners of each County.

Medical Examiners are appointed by the Governor, by and with the consent of the Council, for the term of seven years. The counties are divided into districts as shown below, but medical examiners are authorized to act at any place within the county for which they have been appointed. The law governing medical examinations is given in full on a later page.

Abstract of Statutes and Ordinances affecting Physicians and Others.[1]

ATTEMPTS TO INDUCE ABORTION AND MISCARRIAGE.

The attempt to induce miscarriage or abortion in pregnant females, whether by drugs or instruments, is forbidden by statute in all the States in New England. In Massachusetts, the offender is punished by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than five nor more than twenty years if the woman dies; and by imprisonment not less than one nor more than seven years, and by fine not exceeding two thousand dollars, if the woman survives (P. S. 207, § 9). In Maine (unless abortion is done as necessary for the preservation of the mother's life), if done with intent to destroy the child, and thereby it is destroyed before birth, by imprisonment not less than five years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars; if done with intent to procure the miscarriage of the woman, by imprisonment less than one year, and by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars (R. S. 124, § 8). In New Hampshire, an endeavor to procure a miscarriage, by imprisonment not more than one year, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars; and a person employing means to cause the death "of a quick child" (unless by reason of some malformation in the mother, or of difficult or protracted labor, the same shall be necessary to preserve the life of the mother, or shall have been advised by two physicians), shall be imprisoned from one to ten years, and pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars. The death of a woman during the attempt to procure miscarriage or abortion is considered murder in the second degree, and is liable to be punished accordingly (G. S. 264, §11). In Vermont, the procuring of abortion is punishable by imprisonment for not less than five or more than ten years, in case the woman dies; or otherwise, by imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than three, and by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars

[1] For an abstract of Statutes of Massachusetts relating to Health, Lunacy, and Public Charity, see Manual for the use of the Boards of Health and Overseers of the Poor of Massachusetts, Boston, 1882.

(G. S. 117, § 10). In Rhode Island, imprisonment not less than five nor more than twenty years, in case the woman dies; otherwise, not less than one, nor more than seven years (G. S. 228, § 23). In Connecticut, a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the state prison not more than five years, or both; and any woman who shall do or suffer anything to be done on herself to produce miscarriage or abortion, is liable to a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the state prison not more than two years, or both (G. S. XX. II. §§ 11, 12).

The advertisement, in any way, of means by which or persons of whom abortion may be procured, is punishable in Massachusetts by imprisonment not exceeding three years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars (P. S. 207, § 10). In Rhode Island by imprisonment not exceeding three years (G. S. 232, § 23). In Connecticut by fine of not more than five hundred dollars (G. S. XX. II. § 13).

ADULTERATION OF FOOD, DRINKS, DRUGS, ETC., AND SALE OF CORRUPT OR UNWHOLESOME PROVISIONS.

Punishable by imprisonment or fine in Massachusetts (P. S. 208, §§ 1–5). The proper officers have authority to search for and destroy such articles as may be injurious to the public health (G. S. 166, § 1; 1872, 231, §§ 1–3; 1866, 253, §§ 1, 4–7). In New Hampshire, punishable by statute (G. S. 253). Vermont (G. S. 118, § 16). In Rhode Island (G. S. 233, §§ 1–4; 119, § 8; 118, §§ 6–7). Under the Pharmacy Act the adulteration or weakening of drugs involves the forfeiture of such articles, and the offender is deprived of the right of practising in that State forever (G. S. 119, § 8). In Connecticut the sale of adulterated liquors is punishable by fine or imprisonment (G. S. 9, 47).

In Massachusetts no person is permitted to manufacture for sale, offer for sale or sell any drug or article of food which is adulterated within the meaning of the act.

The term "drug," as used in the act, includes all medicines for internal or external use, antiseptics, disinfectants, and cosmetics. The term "food," as used therein, includes all articles used for food or drink by man.

An article is deemed to be adulterated within the meaning of the act, —

(a) In the case of drugs, — (1) If, when sold under or by a name recognized in the United States Pharmacopœia, it differs from the standard of strength, quality or purity laid down therein; (2) if, when sold under or by a name not recognized in the United States Pharmacopœia but which is found in some other pharmacopœia, or other standard work on materia medica, it differs materially from the standard of strength, quality or purity laid down in such work; (3) if its strength or purity falls below the professed standard under which it is sold.

(b) In the case of food, — (1) If any substance or substances have been mixed with it so as to reduce or lower or injuriously affect its quality or strength; (2) if any inferior or cheaper substance or substances have been substituted wholly or in part for it; (3) if any valuable constituent has been wholly or in part abstracted from it; (4) if it is an imitation of or is sold under the name of another article; (5) if it consists wholly or in part of a diseased, decomposed, putrid, or rotted animal or vegetable substance, whether manufactured or not; or, in the case of milk, if it is the produce of a diseased animal; (6) if it is colored, coated, polished, or powdered, whereby damage is concealed, or if it is made to appear better or of greater value than it really is; (7) if it contains any added poisonous ingredient, or any ingredient which may render it injurious to the health of a person consuming it.

The State Board of Health, Lunacy and Charity may from time to time declare certain articles or preparations to be exempt from the provisions of this act; and the provisions hereof shall not apply to mixtures or compounds recognized as ordinary articles of food, provided that the same are not injurious to health, and are distinctly labelled as mixtures or compounds.

The State Board of Health, Lunacy, and Charity is directed to prepare and publish from time to time lists of the articles, mixtures, or compounds declared to be exempt from the provisions of the act, in accordance with the preceding section. The said board shall also from time to time fix the limits of variability permissible in any article of food, or any drug or compound, the standard of which is not established by any national pharmacopœia.

The State Board of Health, Lunacy, and Charity takes cognizance of the interests of the public health relating to the sale of drugs and food and the adulteration of the same, and makes all necessary investigations and inquiries in reference thereto; and for these purposes may appoint inspectors, analysts, and chemists, who shall be subject to its supervision and removal.

The board is authorized to expend annually an amount not exceeding three[1] thousand dollars for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act.

Every person offering or exposing for sale, or delivering to a purchaser, any drug or article of food included in the provisions of the act, must furnish to any analyst or other officer or agent appointed hereunder, who shall apply to him for the purpose and shall tender him the value of the same, a sample sufficient for the purpose of the analysis of any such drug or article of food which is in his possession (263, 1882).

[1] Amended to read five instead of three, provided that two fifths of the amount be expended for the enforcement of the laws against the adulteration of milk (A. and R., 1883).

Whoever hinders, obstructs, or in any way interferes with any inspector, analyst, or other officer appointed hereunder in the performance of his duty, and whoever violates any of the provisions of this act, is liable to be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars for the first offence and not exceeding one hundred dollars for each subsequent offence.

MEDICAL EXAMINERS, MASSACHUSETTS.

The governor nominates, and by and with the advice and consent of the council appoints in each county, able and discreet men, learned in the science of medicine, to be medical examiners in such county, and every such nomination shall be made at least seven days prior to the appointment.

The governor may also in like manner nominate and appoint an associate medical examiner for the county of Suffolk, who shall, at the request of either of the medical examiners of said county, perform all the duties and exercise all the powers of a medical examiner in said county; but he shall not in any year be so required for more than one month at the request of either of said medical examiners.

In the county of Suffolk each medical examiner shall receive, in full for all services performed by him, an annual salary of three thousand dollars, to be paid quarterly from the treasury of said county; and the assistant medical examiner five hundred dollars; but if he is requested by either medical examiner to serve in his stead for over two months, he receives the same pay as the medical examiner, and such compensation is deducted from the salary of the medical examiner in whose stead he serves; and in other counties they shall receive for a view without an autopsy four dollars; for a view and autopsy thirty dollars; and travel at the rate of five cents per mile to and from the place of the view.

Medical examiners hold their offices for the term of seven years from the time of appointment, but are liable to removal from office at any time by the governor and council for cause shown.

The county commissioners in each county divide their several counties into suitable districts for the appointment of one medical examiner in each district under this act; and when such division is made certify their action to the secretary of the commonwealth; but nothing herein shall prevent any medical examiner from acting as such in any part of his county.

Medical examiners make examinations upon the view of the dead bodies of such persons only as are supposed to have come to their death by violence.

Whenever a medical examiner has notice that there has been found, or is lying within his county, the dead body of a person who is supposed to have come to his death by violence, he shall forthwith repair to the place where such body lies and take charge of the same; and if on view thereof and personal inquiry into the cause and manner of the death he deems a further examination necessary, he shall, upon being thereto authorized in writing by the district attorney, mayor, or selectmen of the district, city, or town where such body lies, in the presence of two or more discreet persons, whose attendance he may compel by subpœna if necessary, make an autopsy, and then and there carefully reduce or cause to be reduced to writing every fact and circumstance tending to show the condition of the body, and the cause and manner of death, together with the names and addresses of said witnesses, which record he shall subscribe. Before making such autopsy he shall call the attention of said witnesses to the position and appearance of the body.

If upon such view, personal inquiry, or autopsy, he shall be of opinion that the death was caused by violence, he shall at once notify the district attorney and a justice of the district, police, or municipal court for the district or city in which the body lies, or a trial justice, and shall file a duly attested copy of the record of his autopsy in such court, or with such justice, and a like copy with such district attorney; and shall in all cases certify to the clerk or registrar having the custody of the records of births, marriages, and deaths in the city or town in which the person deceased came to his death, the name and residence of the person deceased, if known, or a description of his person, as full as may be for identification, when the name and residence cannot be ascertained, together with the cause and manner in and by which the person deceased came to his death.

The court or trial justice shall thereupon hold an inquest, which may be private, in which case any or all persons other than those required to be present by the provisions of this chapter may be excluded from the place where the same is held; and said court or trial justice may also direct the witnesses to be kept separate, so that they cannot converse with each other until they have been examined. The district attorney, or some person designated by him, may attend the inquest, and may examine all witnesses. An inquest shall be held in all cases of death by accident upon any railroad; and the district attorney or the attorney-general may direct an inquest to be held in the case of any other casualty from which the death of any person results.

The justice or district attorney may issue subpœnas for witnesses, returnable before such court or trial justice. The persons served with such process shall be allowed the same fees, and their attendance may be enforced in the same manner, and they shall be subject to the same penalties, as if served with a subpœna in behalf of the commonwealth in a criminal prosecution pending in said court, or before said trial justice.

The presiding justice or trial justice shall, after hearing the testimony, draw up and sign a report in which he shall find and certify when, where, and by what means the person deceased came to his death, his name, if known, and all material circumstances attending his death ; and if it appears that his death resulted wholly or in part from the unlawful act of any other person, he shall further state, if known to him, the name or names of such person or persons, which report he shall file with the records of the superior court in the county wherein the inquest is held.

If the justice finds that murder, manslaughter, or an assault has been committed, he may bind over, as in criminal prosecutions, such witnesses as he deems necessary, or as the district attorney may designate, to appear and testify at the court in which an indictment for such offence may be found or presented.

If a person charged by the report with the commission of any offence is not in custody, the justice shall forthwith issue process for his apprehension, and such process shall be made returnable before any court or magistrate having jurisdiction in the premises, who shall proceed therein in the manner required by law; but nothing herein shall prevent any justice from issuing such process before the finding of such report if it be otherwise lawful to issue the same.

If a medical examiner reports that the death was not caused by violence, and the district attorney or the attorney-general is of a contrary opinion, either the district attorney or the attorney-general may, notwithstanding such report, direct an inquest to be held in accordance with the provisions of this act, at which inquest he, or some person designated by him, shall be present and examine all the witnesses.

The medical examiner may, if he deems it necessary, employ a chemist to aid in the examination of the body or of substances supposed to have caused or contributed to the death, and such chemist shall be entitled to such compensation for his services as the medical examiner certifies to be just and reasonable, the same being audited and allowed in the manner herein provided. A clerk who may be employed to reduce to writing the results of the medical examination or autopsy shall be allowed for his service two dollars per day.

When a medical examiner views or makes an examination of the dead body of a stranger, he shall cause the body to be decently buried; and if he certifies that he has made careful inquiry, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief the person found dead is a stranger, having no settlement in any city or town of this commonwealth, his fees, with the actual expense of burial, shall be paid from the treasury of the commonwealth. In all other cases the expense of the burial shall be paid by the city or town, and all other expenses by the county, wherein the body is found.

When services are rendered in bringing to land the dead body of a person found in any of the harbors, rivers, or waters of the commonwealth, the medical examiner may allow such compensation for said services as he deems reasonable, but this provision shall not entitle any person to compensation for services rendered in searching for such dead body.

In all cases arising under the provisions of this act, the medical examiner shall take charge of any money or other personal property of the deceased, found upon or near the body, and deliver the same to the person or persons entitled to its custody or possession; but if not claimed by such person within sixty days, then to a public administrator, to be administered upon according to law.

A medical examiner who fraudulently neglects or refuses to deliver such property to such person within three days after due demand upon him therefor shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail or house of correction not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Every medical examiner shall return an account of the expenses of each view or autopsy, including his fees, to the county commissioners having jurisdiction over the place where the examination or view is held, or in the county of Suffolk to the auditor of the city of Boston, and shall annex thereto the written authority under which the autopsy was made. Such commissioners or auditor shall audit such accounts and certify to the treasurer of the commonwealth, or the treasurer of the county, as the case may be, what items therein are deemed just and reasonable, which shall be paid by said treasurer to the person entitled to receive the same (P. S. 26, §§ 1, 3–4, 9–24).

DEAD BODIES, DISSECTION, ETC.

Physicians are authorized to receive and have in their possession, for the purpose of anatomical investigation and the instruction of students in Massachusetts (P. S. 81, §§ 1–4). The court may in its discretion order the body of a person executed for the crime of murder to be dissected, and the sheriff shall deliver it to a professor of anatomy or surgery in some college or public seminary if requested, or to any surgeon who will engage to dissect it (P. S. 202, § 8). In Maine (R. S. 13, §§ 1–2; 124, § 26; A. & R. 1881, 93, §§ 1–4). In Vermont (G. S. 118, § 19). In Connecticut, professors and teachers of anatomy are obliged to give bonds, in the sum of one thousand dollars, that no body which shall have been removed from the grave illegally shall be brought within the building where lectures or demonstrations are given ; and any person performing any anatomical or surgical experiments on any corpse before such professor or lecturer shall have given such bond is liable to a fine of not less than five hundred nor more than two thousand dollars (G. S. 8, § 10). The professors and teachers of chartered medical colleges in Connecticut are alone authorized to have in their possession dead bodies, and these are to be used only for the purposes of instruction (G. S. 13, §§ 1–5).

In Massachusetts the dead body cannot be surrendered for dissection if a request to the contrary is made by the deceased person during his last sickness, or by friends within twenty-four hours after his decease, or if such person was a stranger or traveller who suddenly died (P. S. 81, § 4). In Maine, friends may require the body any time within thirty days : bodies delivered for dissection must be embalmed and kept for that time (A. & R. 1881, 94, §§ 1-3).

The violation of sepulture, and the dealing in or illegal possession of dead bodies, is punishable by imprisonment or fine in Massachusetts (P. S. 207, §§ 47–48); Maine (R. S. 124, §§ 26, 27); New Hampshire (G. S. 263, § 12); Vermont (G. S. 118, § 17); Rhode Island (G. S. 232, § 21); and in Connecticut a person removing a body from the grave, without the consent of the near relations of the deceased, or receiving or concealing a corpse so removed, or dissecting such body, is liable to a fine of not less than two hundred nor more than two thousand dollars, and to imprisonment in the state prison for not less than two nor more than five years (G. S. 8, § 9).

EXEMPTION OF PROPERTY OF PHYSICIANS FROM ATTACHMENT AND EXECUTION FOR DEBT.

In Vermont the professional books and instruments of physicians, to the value of two hundred dollars, are exempt (G. S. 47, § 13). In Connecticut the horse of any practising physician or surgeon, of a value not exceeding two hundred dollars, and his saddle, harness, and buggy, are exempt (G. S. 16, § 10).

CONTAGIOUS AND INFECTIOUS DISEASES.

In Massachusetts, boards of health are authorized to prevent the approach of, examine, remove, isolate, or provide medical and other attendance for persons affected with contagious or infectious diseases, and to secure, purify, or otherwise dispose of baggage, clothing, or other goods supposed to be infected with diseases considered dangerous to the public health (P. S. 80, §§ 39–50). In Boston, physicians are required to report the occurring in their practice of cases of small-pox, scarlet fever, typhus and typhoid fever, diphtheria, and measles. In Maine (R. S. 114, §§ 1–11). In New Hampshire (G. S. 102, §§ 1–6). In Vermont (G. S. 97, §§ 1–4). In Rhode Island (G. S. 74, §§ 12–27). In Connecticut (G. S. 11, §§ 1–19).

In Massachusetts, physicians and householders are required to give immediate notice of the occurrence of small-pox, diphtheria, scarlet fever, or other diseases dangerous to the public health, under a penalty for non-performance of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars for the former, or not more than one hundred for the latter (P. S. 80, §§ 78, 79; A. & R. 1884). Upon the death, recovery, or removal of persons suffering from such diseases, householders are required to have the rooms occupied and the articles used by the sick to be disinfected, in a manner approved by the board of health, under like penalty for non-performance. In Maine, householders and physicians are similarly bound under a penalty of not less than ten nor more than thirty dollars (R. S. 14, §§ 32, 33).

DUELS.

In Massachusetts the presence of a person as a surgeon at a duel is punished by imprisonment in the state prison for a period not exceeding five years, in the jail not exceeding three years, and fine not exceeding one thousand dollars (P. S. 202, §16).

In Maine the presence of a person at a duel as a surgeon, though no homicide ensues, is punishable by imprisonment for not more than twenty years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, and to be incapable of holding any place of honor, profit, or trust for twenty years after conviction. The engagement to act as surgeon at a duel renders the person liable to imprisonment not less than one year, and to be incapable, as in the preceding section, for five years (R. S. 118, §§ 11, 12). In Vermont the presence of any person by previous engagement or appointment as a surgeon on the occurrence of a duel, the result of which is fatal to either party, is liable to imprisonment not less than five years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, and to be forever incapable of holding any place of honor, profit, or trust under the constitution and laws of the State (G. S. 228). In Rhode Island he is liable for such action, or for advising, encouraging, or promoting a duel, to imprisonment not more than five years, or to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars (G. S. 228, § 18).

HEALTH.

The State Board of Health, Lunacy, and Charity, consisting of nine persons, was appointed in 1879 to take cognizance of the interests of health and life among the citizens of the commonwealth, to advise the government in regard to the location of public institutions, to make sanitary investigations and inquiries in respect to the causes of disease, and especially of epidemics, and the sources of mortality and the effects of localities, employments, conditions, and circumstances on the public health. The board makes a report to the Legislature annually in the month of January, and meets at the State House once in three months. No member, except the secretary, who is the executive officer, receives any salary (R. S. 79, §§ 1–5). Boards of health for cities and towns are authorized by statute in Massachusetts and their duties prescribed.

In Boston it is the duty of the mayor to be vigilant and active in protecting the public health; to see that the laws and ordinances in relation to the same are enforced; to communicate his views to the Board of Health, or the city council, from time to time, as he may deem expedient; and he shall have power to call upon the police and the various city officers to aid him in the performance of these duties.

The Board of Health of Boston was organized by city ordinance in 1872. It consists of three members, who are appointed annually in January.

The Board of Health, as hereby constituted, has and exercises all the powers vested in, and performs all the duties prescribed to the city council or the board of aldermen as a board of health, under the statutes and ordinances now in force.

In Maine the appointment and duties of boards of health are provided for (R. S. 14, §§ 14, 16). In New Hampshire (G. S. 101). In Vermont (G. S. 99, §§ 1–14). In Rhode Island the several town councils and boards of aldermen act as boards of health, and make and carry out such regulations as they may deem best (G. S. 35, §§ 11–12). In Connecticut (G. S. 11, §§ 1–19).

HOSPITALS.

In Massachusetts cities and towns may erect and maintain hospitals for the relief of persons suffering from illness, or of persons with diseases dangerous to the public health. No such hospital can be established within one hundred rods of an inhabited dwelling-house in an adjoining town without the consent of said town. No person may erect or use a building as a hospital in any part of a town prohibited by the authorities of such town, under penalty of a fine not exceeding fifty dollars for each month such hospital is used. The selectmen and boards of health are required to give notice of infected places; and the hinderance of such officers in the performance of their duties, or the removal of the signs displayed for the purpose of warning travellers, renders the person so offending liable to a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars. Physicians and other persons in the hospitals for infectious diseases violating any of the regulations made for their government are liable to a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars (P. S. 80, §§ 70–77).

Lying-in hospitals, wards, or other places for the reception, care, and treatment of women in labor, must be licensed by city or town authorities, and are subject to visitation. Carrying on such a hospital or establishment without license is punishable by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars (P. S. 80, §§ 56–59). The business of taking nursing infants to board is regulated in a similar manner, under penalty of not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars (P. S. 80, §§ 60–61).

In Maine, municipal officers are required to maintain hospitals for the care of patients having small-pox or similar dangerous diseases, and to provide means for the isolation of patients (R. S. 14, §§ 26–31).

INSANE:

In Massachusetts (P. S. 3, § 3), Maine (R. S. 1, § 4), New Hampshire (G. S. 1, § 17), Vermont (G. S. 4, § 6), Rhode Island (G. S. 22, § 6), the word "insane" may include idiotic, non compos, lunatic, insane, and distracted persons. In Massachusetts any of the judges of the supreme judicial, superior, and probate courts, and in the city of Boston of the municipal court, may commit to either of the State lunatic hospitals any insane person who in their judgment is a proper subject for treatment or custody; but in all cases the evidence and certificate of at least two respectable physicians, one of whom, when practicable, must be the attending physician of the patient, is required to establish the fact of insanity. Notice must first be given in writing to the officers of the town or city of an intention to make an application for committal (P. S. 87, §§ 11–20, 25–29). Persons violently insane may be received at hospitals without warrant of commitment (P. S. 87, § 26). The governor and council may license private establishments for the insane, and such asylums are subject to visitation by State officers at any time. The penalty for establishing such asylums without authority is a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars (P. S. 87, §§ 53, 54). The State Board of Health, Lunacy, and Charity is authorized to designate two persons, experts in insanity, to examine convicts in the state prison or reformatory prison alleged to be insane (P. S. 222, § 10).

In Maine municipal officers may, on proper evidence presented before them, send to the insane hospital such insane persons as they may think best (R. S. 143, §§ 12–14). In New Hampshire the judges of probate, overseers of the towns, parents and guardians, are empowered to commit to the State asylum insane persons who are in such a condition as to be dangerous to themselves or others (G. S. 10, §§ 12–17). In Vermont the selectmen of towns have similar powers (G. S. 20, § 44). In Rhode Island a trial justice or clerk of a police court may issue a warrant to bring insane persons before such court, and, if found insane, they may be committed to the Butler asylum or the State asylum. Any judge of the supreme court may also appoint three commissioners to examine a person considered insane, and committal may be made on their certificate. Insane persons are also to be received on the certificate of two practising physicians vouching for their insanity (G. S. 68, §§ 1, 2). In Connecticut any insane person may be put in a suitable place of detention on the presentation of a sworn certificate, signed by some reputable physician, stating that he is insane. A judge of the superior court may appoint a commission of three persons, one of whom shall be a physician and one a counsellor-at-law, for the examination of any person supposed to be insane; if in their opinion such person should be confined, the judge shall issue an order to that effect. A justice of the peace, or the first selectman of a town, may order an insane person going at large to be confined (G. S. 8, §§ 6–11).

JURY AND MILITARY DUTY.

In Massachusetts, physicians are exempt from jury duty; but this provision does not affect the power of coroners and magistrates to summon and empanel jurors when authorized by other provisions of law (P. S. 170, §2). Physicians are also exempt from enrollment in the militia (P. S. 14, § 2). In New Hampshire practising physicians are exempt from jury duty (G. S. 194, § 3), and the officers and attendants of the insane asylum from military duty (G. S. 86, § 4). In Vermont the superintendent of the asylum for the insane and the assistant physicians in the same are exempt from military duty (G. S. 110, § 2). In Rhode Island physicians and surgeons are exempt from jury and military duty (G. S. 189, § 2; 247, § 5).

PRACTICE OF MEDICINE.

In Maine no person, except a physician or surgeon who commenced practice prior to February 16, 1831, or has received a degree at a public medical institution in the United States, or a license from the Maine Medical Association, is entitled to recover any compensation for medical or surgical services, unless previous to such services he has obtained a certificate of good moral character from the municipal officers of the town where he then resided (R. S. 13, § 3).

In New Hampshire each and every medical society, organized under a charter from the Legislature, is obliged to appoint a board of not less than three censors, to examine and license practitioners of medicine, surgery, and midwifery.

Every practitioner of medicine, surgery, or midwifery, including all persons who by sign or advertisement, or by any means whatever, offer their services to the public as practitioners of either medicine, surgery, or midwifery, or who by such sign or advertisement assume the title of doctor, is required to obtain a certificate of some one of the chartered medical societies of the State; which certificate shall set forth that said censors have found the person to whom it is given qualified to practise all the branches of medical art mentioned in it; such certificate must be recorded by the county clerk. A failure or neglect to have the certificate recorded within thirty days after its issue renders the person so neglectful liable to a fine of twenty-five dollars; and any person who shall practise medicine, surgery, or midwifery in this State, or who shall sign a certificate of death for purposes of burial or removal, whose aforesaid certificate is not recorded in the manner aforesaid, shall be liable to the penalties for the punishment of persons who shall practise without a certificate.

Every person not a resident of this State is required to obtain a certificate from some board of censors in this State, and cause the same to be recorded as herein provided, before he shall be permitted to practise the medical art within the State.

Each board of censors shall issue certificates without fee to all physicians and surgeons who furnish evidence by diploma from some medical college or university, or by certificate of examination by some authorized board, which shall, after due investigation, satisfy said censors that the person so presenting such credentials has been, after due examination by a legally authorized board, deemed properly and adequately qualified to practise the branches mentioned in such diploma or certificate. Any certificate issued by any board of censors as herein provided shall be valid throughout the State after being duly registered. Said censors shall also have power to revoke or annul any certificate, if in their judgment the person holding it has obtained it fraudulently, or has, by crime or misdemeanor, whereof such person shall have been duly convicted, forfeited all right to public confidence.

It is declared a misdemeanor for any person to practise medicine, surgery, or midwifery in this State, unless authorized so to do by a certificate; and any person found guilty of such misdemeanor shall for the first offence be fined not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars; for any subsequent offence not less than two hundred nor more than five hundred dollars; which fine may be recovered by an action of debt for the use of any person who shall sue therefor, or by an indictment.

No person practising either of the branches of medicine, surgery, or midwifery within this State, without a certificate as provided in this act, shall be permitted to enforce, in any of the courts of this State, the collection of any fee or compensation for any services rendered, or medicine or material of any kind furnished, in the practice of any of the branches not mentioned in such certificate.

The act does not apply to the practice of dentistry, or to those practitioners of medicine who have resided five years in the town or city of their present residence (1875).

PHARMACY.

In Massachusetts apothecaries and other persons are required to keep a record of the sale of arsenic, strychnine, corrosive sublimate, or prussic acid, without the written prescription of a physician, under penalty of not less than fifty dollars, and persons purchasing deadly poisons and giving a fictitious name to the apothecary or other persons, are liable to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars (P. S. 208, § 6). In Maine no person is allowed to sell such drugs, except on the prescription of a physician, without labelling each parcel sold with the name of the article and the word "Poison," and making record of such sale, under a penalty of not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars, or imprisonment from thirty to sixty days (R. S. 28). In New Hampshire, druggists and apothecaries are required to keep account of the sale of dangerous drugs (G. S. 253). In Vermont, druggists must keep an account of the sale of poisonous drugs and of any anæsthetic agents. Giving an anæsthetic by inhalation or otherwise, for the purpose of committing any crime against the person or property of any citizen, renders one liable to imprisonment for not less than three years or for life (G. S. 118, § 6). In Rhode Island no person, unless a registered pharmacist or registered assistant pharmacist, or one acting under the supervision of such, can retail, compound, or dispense medicines or poisons. This provision does not, however, apply to physicians who do not keep open shop for the sale of medicines, or prevent them from administering or supplying to their patients such medicines as they deem best.

Registration is allowed only to graduates in pharmacy, practising pharmacists, or assistant pharmacists. The State Board of Pharmacy (consisting of seven members, and appointed every three years) are authorized to examine all applicants for registration, and to grant such as pass a satisfactory examination permission to engage in business. The fee for examination and registration is ten dollars. A registered assistant pharmacist may be entitled to registration as a registered pharmacist on payment of one dollar.

The sale of medicines by other than registered pharmacists, or the assumption of the name of registered pharmacist, is forbidden under a penalty of fifty dollars.

The sale of poisons and of the whole class of emmenagogue and abortifacient remedies is forbidden, except such articles are labelled with their names and the word "Poison," and apothecaries are required to keep a list of such sales (G. S. 119, §§ 1–8).

QUARANTINE.

In Massachusetts towns may establish quarantine grounds in suitable places within their limits; or if in other towns, with the consent of such towns. Two or more towns may at their joint expense establish quarantine grounds for their joint use, and may make suitable quarantine regulations; and owners and masters of vessels, seamen and passengers, liable to quarantine, are bound to obey such regulations (P. S. 80, §§ 62–69). In Maine, municipal officers of seaport cities and towns are authorized to make similar arrangements (R. S. 14, §§ 17–25). In New Hampshire (G. S. 103, §§ 1–14). In Rhode Island (G. S. 74. §§ 1–11). In Connecticut (G. S. 11, §§ 4–12).

REGISTRY AND RETURN OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

In Massachusetts any physician having attended a person during his last illness shall, when requested, within fifteen days after the decease of such person, forthwith furnish for registration a certificate of the duration of the last sickness, the disease of which the person died, and the date of his decease, as nearly as he can state the same: If any physician neglects or refuses to make such certificate he shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for the use of the town in which he resides (P. S. 32, § 3). In cities and towns, except Boston, physicians are required to report a list of all children born therein, at the birth of which they were present, with a penalty for non-performance of twenty dollars (P. S. 32, §§ 7–9). In New Hampshire, physicians are required to make return of births and deaths annually before the fifteenth of April in each year, for which a fee is paid (G. S. 162, § 3). In Vermont a physician who has been in attendance upon any person is required to leave a certificate of the cause of death with the town clerk within fifteen days after the interment of such person, under a fine for neglect of three dollars (G. S. 17, § 7). In Rhode Island the physician must make out a certificate within forty-eight hours of the death of a person (G. S. 77, § 6). In Connecticut, physicians and midwives are required to furnish certificates of births within the first week of the month after said birth, and physicians are required to give certificates of death during the first week of the next month following such death (G. S. 3, § 3).

VACCINATION.

In Massachusetts parents and guardians shall cause their children and wards to be vaccinated before they attain the age of two years, and revaccinated whenever the selectmen or mayor and aldermen shall, after five years from the last vaccination, require it. For every year's neglect, the party offending shall forfeit the sum of five dollars. The selectmen and mayor and aldermen shall require and enforce the vaccination of inhabitants, and persons over twenty-one years of age failing to comply with such requirement are liable to a fine of five dollars. Towns are required to furnish the means of vaccination to such of their inhabitants as are unable to pay for the same (P. S. 80, §§ 51–53). In Maine a town may provide for the vaccination of the inhabitants, and raise money to defray the expenses of the same. Inoculation with small-pox is forbidden under penalty of one hundred dollars for each offence (R. S. 14, §§ 31, 35). In New Hampshire any town may appoint an agent for vaccination, who may vaccinate all persons at the expense of the town. Inoculation with small-pox is liable to a fine of one hundred and fifty dollars (G. S. 102, §§ 1–6). In Vermont, town officers may require vaccination in case of the presence and threatened spread of small-pox (G. S. 99, § 1). The town councils in Rhode Island are obliged to provide public vaccination at the expense of said towns (G. S. 74, §§ 25-27). In Connecticut boards of health may compel vaccination of the inhabitants of their several towns (G. S. 16, §§ 17, 18).

Fee Table — Boston (City Proper).

For each visit, either medical, surgical, or obstetrical, in cases of regular attendance, $3.00. For the first visit in a new case, it shall be considered proper to make a charge of from three to five dollars, and a similar charge should be made in cases in which but a single visit is required. In cases also of extraordinary service, detention, or attendance, or when, for any reason, the case is one of unusual importance or responsibility, the charge should be proportionally increased; and the duty to make such increased charge shall be considered obligatory upon the practitioner.

For a visit in consultation, from $5.00 to $10.00. In case of a consultation, the attending physician may also charge the usual consultation fee instead of the fee for an ordinary visit. For each subsequent visit in consultation, where the attendance is continuous, the fee may be from $3.00 to $5.00.

For a visit after 9 P. M. and before 8 A. M., from $5.00 to $10.00.

In cases of consultation or other extraordinary attendance in the night, the fee for such extra attendance shall be added to that for a night visit.

For attendance involving travel out of town, mileage shall be charged at a rate per mile, for short distances, of from $1.00 to $2.00. In cases of longer distances, travelled by railroad, the mileage may be reckoned, according to the time saved to the practitioner, at from half a dollar to a dollar.

For advice at the physician's house, according to the importance of the case, unseasonableness of the hour, or time occupied, from $3.00 to $20.00.

For a letter of advice, according to the importance of the case, or the time occupied, from $10.00 to $20.00.

For an opinion involving a question of law in which the physician may be subpœnaed, $50.00. The above charge shall also be allowed in cases in which the physician is subpœnaed in consequence of an opinion obtained under any other pretext, but which is afterwards sought to be introduced as evidence in a suit or action. Also for attendance in court as an expert. In case of an opinion involving special study or experimental investigation, such additional service shall be charged in proportion to the time and labor expended. In case of detention in court as an expert, or in a matter involving a professional opinion, for each day's attendance after the first, the fee shall be $50.00.

For a certificate of health, $5.00.

For a post-mortem examination in a case of legal investigation, $50.00.

For post-mortem examination made at the request of the family or relations of the deceased, $20.00.

For vaccine inoculation, $5.00.

MIDWIFERY.

For attendance during labor in the daytime, $20.00. For attendance, if any part of the attendance is in the night, $30.00. For attendance during tedious labor, it shall be considered obligatory to make such additional charge as, in the discretion of the practitioner, the extraordinary detention or service shall seem to demand.

Obstetric operations, when necessary, shall be charged in addition to the usual fee for attendance.

In obstetrical practice, all subsequent visits shall be charged as in ordinary cases of attendance.

In cases of labor, when the child is born, but not the placenta, before the arrival of the accoucheur, the whole fee is to be charged. When both the child and placenta are born before the arrival of the accoucheur, half or the whole fee may be charged, according to circumstances. This rule is intended to apply to cases in which the services of the accoucheur have been previously engaged, and in which the delay does not arise from his fault.

If, in any case of labor, a second physician is called in consultation, and subsequently detained in joint attendance, both attending and consulting physicians shall be entitled to the full fee for attendance, and also to such additional amount as may be deemed proper in view of the importance of the case, the unseasonableness of the hour, or any extraordinary detention, or service rendered.

OPERATIVE SURGERY.

For capital operations, or operations of unusual difficulty, such as amputations of large limbs, ligation of large arteries, operations for stone in the bladder, removal of breasts or of other large tumors, operations for cataract, for strangulated hernia, for vesico-vaginal fistula, for cleft palate, etc., $100.00 to $500.00, according to the importance of the case and the pecuniary circumstances of the patient.

For operations of secondary importance or difficulty, such as operations for fistula in ano, for hare-lip, for the radical cure of hydrocele, tapping and injection of ovarian cysts, reduction of dislocations or fractures of large bones, amputation of fingers or toes, tracheotomy, removal of small tumors not involving important organs, passing catheter in cases of obstruction, ligature of arteries of secondary size, etc., $25.00 to $100.00.

For minor operations, such as excision of tonsils, removal of nasal polypi, tapping for hydrocele or for ascites, opening abscesses, catheterism, stitching recent wounds, cupping, passing setons, excision of wens, etc., $5.00 to $25.00.

After surgical operations, all subsequent visits shall be charged as in ordinary cases of attendance.

It is not designed by these regulations to prevent the members of this association from rendering their services gratuitously to persons who are incapable of remunerating them without distressing themselves or their families; and in every case, in settling his account, the practitioner may make any deduction which he conscientiously believes that the circumstances of the patient render necessary.

No member of this association shall omit charging any necessary visits made on the same day, on account of their number.

No member of this association shall make a previous contract with any family for a definite sum, as a remuneration for his annual attendance on that family.

Those physicians of the adjoining towns who are members of the Massachusetts Medical Society, or have been licensed by it, shall be requested to conform, in their charges, to the fee-bill of this association, whenever they attend patients in the city.

Physicians called to visit other physicians, or their families, living at a distance from Boston, shall be entitled to charge one half the usual fees.

The Army Medical Museum.

509 Tenth Street, Washington, D. C.

The museum occupies a portion of the building formerly known as Ford's Theatre. The rest of the building is occupied by the Division of Surgical Records, the Record and Pension Division, the Laboratory and the Library of the Surgeon-General's office.

The museum was founded and a large portion of the medical and surgical specimens collected during the War of the Rebellion. Additions are continually being made by medical officers of the army at the several military posts and by physicians in private practice. It is richer in specimens illustrating the results of gun-shot wounds and of the surgical operations which they necessitate than any other collection in the world, and contains 20,000 specimens. The collection is open to visitors daily from 10 to 3.

Museum of Hygiene, U. S. Navy.

18th and D. Streets, Washington, D. C.

Organized under the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, U. S. N., and recognized by Act of Congress, June 30, 1883. The plan comprehends a collection which shall be illustrative of the entire range of sanitary science, the establishment of a course of lectures by authoritative sanitarians from all sections of the country, and a library of sanitary science accessible, under proper restrictions and guarantees, to all who are engaged in the study of this branch of knowledge.

It is intended that it shall exhibit the present state and future progress of the nation in all departments of hygiene, and, to carry out this important scheme, the co-operation of physicians, engineers, architects, builders, manufacturers, inventors, and others interested in sanitary matters is not only desirable, but indispensable.

Contributions of articles, appliances, models, drawings, etc., illustrating improvements in food, water-supply, bedding, clothing, marine architecture, house and hospital construction and furniture; apparatus for heating, illuminating, ventilation, and removal of excreta and refuse; culinary, laundry, and bath facilities; appliances for physical culture and exercise; and whatever else tends to the preservation of health, and the prevention of disease, are therefore solicited.

Contributions of materials and books should be sent to the address of the Surgeon-General of the Navy. Donors and depositors will, in every case, be duly credited on the descriptive labels of their exhibits. The cost of the transportation of articles contributed will be paid by the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery.

The Library has over 5,000 bound volumes of foreign and domestic works of reference, etc., and constant additions are being made. It is intended to make this one of the most complete departments of the Museum. Attached to the library is a reading-room with at present 115 periodical publications devoted to hygiene, science, and medicine.

J. M. Browne, Med. Dir., U. S. N., in charge.

Warren Museum.

Medical College, Boylston Street, Boston, Mass.

The nucleus of this collection was formed by Dr. John C. Warren, who presented his collection to Harvard College, with five thousand dollars for its proper preservation, for the purpose of illustrating the lectures at the Medical School. The preparations were mostly the result of his own labors for forty or fifty years, with those of his friends and pupils. Among those engaged in making preparations for it were Drs. Gamage, Edward Warren, Jeffries Wyman, George Parkman, Samuel Parkman, and Winslow Lewis.

Anatomical preparations were given to Dr. Warren, from time to time, by Drs. James Jackson, John Gorham, J. B. S. Jackson, and others. Many specimens were added to it, both surgical and anatomical, by Dr. J. M. Warren, who, during his visits to Europe, made a large collection of morbid bones and of the anatomical preparations of Auzoux.

Since the collection came into the possession of the college in 1847, it has been largely increased by gifts from various members of the profession, and by the constant labors of its late curator, Dr. J. B. S. Jackson. A detailed catalogue of the specimens in the Museum has been published.[1]

The Museum has received, since its removal to its present fire-proof receptacle, the collection of the late Dr. J. Mason Warren, consisting of crania and anatomical and physical preparations. The cabinet of the Boston Society for Medical Improvement, presented some time since as the Jackson Cabinet, has also been added. This Museum contains probably the finest general medical collection in America.

The Museum of the college also contains the Model Museum of Dermatology and Syphilography, established by Dr. Edward Wigglesworth, and by him given to the college. It is composed of models of diseases of the skin, each model being made from a cast taken directly from the patient, and subsequently colored at the bedside. The models were made by the celebrated French artist Baretta, modeller to the hospitals of Paris, and with him the composition and method of staining employed remain a secret.

The Museum comprises all the best specimens of the Museum of the St. Louis Hospital, as well as of the private collection of M. Baretta, and is the first collection of these models brought to America. It contains about 200 specimens, and ranks, in point of numbers, second only to the collection of St. Louis. M. Baretta has given special attention to this Museum, and he offers it in America as a specimen of his powers, by which he is willing to be judged.

The Warren Museum may be inspected by any person on making application at the college.

Warren Museum of Natural History.

82 Chestnut Street, Boston, Mass.

Incorporated by the Legislature, February 19, 1858. The collections contained in this building have for their nucleus the skeleton of the great mastodon, — the only perfect specimen in existence, — which was discovered in 1845, near the Hudson River at Newburgh, and purchased in 1846 by Dr. John C. Warren. Dr. Warren, knowing that all collections were, sooner or later, destroyed by fire, in 1849 erected the present fire-proof building for the preservation of this specimen and for his other valuable collections in natural history.

The lower hall of the building contains the skeleton of the mastodon. At the side of it, and for the purpose of comparison, is that of the elephant "Pizarro," one of the largest elephants ever brought to this country, together with that of a horse. The room also contains one or two skeletons of the mastodon which have not been articulated, and a great number of the heads and teeth of animals at different periods of life. There are also the head of a whale, and casts of heads of various animals from the British Museum, among which are those of fossil heads of elephants from the Himalaya Mountains. Around the room is arranged a specimen of the fossil skeleton of the Zeuglodon Cetoides, sixty feet long.

In the hall are slabs containing the fossil impressions of gigantic birds and of other large animals. The story above contains the specimens belonging to the late Dr. J. M. Warren. They consist of large collections of crania from all parts of the world, both human and comparative; a specimen of the Ornithorhynchus paradoxus, with the stuffed skins of the male and female. In the smaller room are a collection of anatomical preparations, illustrative of healthy and morbid anatomy; also casts of the egg of the gigantic birds, Epyornis and Dinornis, from New Zealand and New Holland, and many other objects of interest. The Museum can be visited by making application to Dr. J. Collins Warren, 58 Beacon Street, or Dr. Thomas Dwight, 235 Beacon Street.

Medical Libraries.

LIBRARY OF THE SURGEON-GENERAL'S OFFICE, U. S. A.

The Library of the Surgeon-General's Office contains about 66,000 volumes, properly so called, and 70,000 pamphlets. Many of these books are rare, and the whole is the best working Medical Library in the world, especially when taken in connection with the "Index Catalogue of Authors and Subjects," four volumes of which have now appeared. An effort is made to obtain every medical periodical in the world for this library, and these are indexed as fast as received. The results of this indexing appear every month in the "Index Medicus," published by Mr. F. Leypoldt, 31 and 32 Park Row, New York.

Books are loaned from this Library to other libraries which have buildings of their own, and will be responsible for them, and also to physicians who deposit with the Librarian a sum sufficient to replace the books if lost or injured. Rare books, or volumes of periodicals which could only be replaced with great difficulty, are not so loaned, however. In all cases of loan, the books must be sent and returned by express (not by mail), at the expense of the borrower.

All unsuccessful dissertations are deposited with the Secretary, from whom they may be obtained, with the sealed packet unopened, if called for within one year after they have been received.

By an order adopted in 1826, the Secretary was directed to publish annually the following votes:—

1st. That the Board do not consider themselves as approving the doctrines contained in any of the dissertations to which premiums may be adjudged.

2d. That in case of publication of a successful dissertation, the author be considered as bound to print the above vote in connection therewith.

BOYLSTON MEDICAL SOCIETY PRIZES.

In accordance with the will of the founder of the Society, Dr. Ward Nicholas Boylston, the sum of twenty-five dollars is appropriated annually, to be given in two prizes of fifteen and ten dollars respectively, to the author or authors of the most approved dissertation, considered worthy, on medical subjects to be selected by the author. The prize is open only to active members of the Society. The fund is cared for by a board of seven trustees, practising physicians in the Commonwealth, selected by the Society; the prize is awarded by a committee of five physicians, also chosen by the Society. The names of the trustees and of the committee for the present year are given on page 78.

Dissertations must be placed in the hands of the President of the Society on or before the 1st of January, together with a sealed envelope containing name and address of the author. The decision of the committee is announced at the last meeting of the Society in February.

THE WARREN PRIZE.

The Warren Prize was established by the will of Dr. J. Mason Warren, who gave the sum of $2,000 as a fund for a prize to be called the Warren Prize, in memory of his father, Dr. John C. Warren, the accumulated interest of which every three years is awarded for the best dissertation considered worthy of a premium, on some subject in Physiology, Surgery, or Pathological Anatomy. The arbitrators are the Medical Board of the Massachusetts General Hospital. In case no dissertation is thought worthy of a premium, the interest is added to the original fund and the amount of the premium increased. A prize of four hundred dollars is offered for 1886 and every three years subsequently.

Each essay should be accompanied by a sealed envelope, containing the author's name and address, and be sent to the Resident Physician of the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, on or before February 1, 1886.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE PRIZE.

A Pocket Case of Surgical Instruments (the "Crosby Case") is offered by W. T. Smith, M. D., to the member of the Graduating Class who shall pass the best examination in all departments of medicine.

UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT PRIZES.

Open to competition by students of the Graduating Class. The Faculty have established two prizes for general proficiency in examination, — a first prize of fifty dollars, and a second prize of twenty-five dollars. These prizes will hereafter be awarded as follows: —

The ten students who pass the best examinations for their degree will be allowed to compete in a written examination for the prizes; of this number the five who pass most perfectly shall be called Honor Men, and will each receive a Special Diploma of Honor, and of these last, those who are deemed worthy shall receive respectively the first and second prize.

FISKE MEDICAL PRIZE.

The late Dr. Caleb Fiske, formerly President of the Rhode Island Medical Society, bequeathed in his last will, for the benefit of the Society, the sum of two thousand dollars, directing the proceeds to be applied to the payment of premiums for prize dissertations.

The Trustees of the Fiske Fund propose the following subjects for 1884: —

1st. The Origin and Progress of the Malarial Fever now prevalent in New England.

2d. Original Investigations in Household Hygiene.

For the best essay on either of these subjects, worthy of a premium, the Trustees will pay three hundred dollars.

Every competitor for a premium is expected to conform to the following regulations, namely: —

To forward to the Secretary of the Trustees, on or before May 1, 1884, free of all expense, a copy of his dissertation, with a motto written thereupon, and also accompanying it a sealed packet, having the same motto inscribed upon the outside, and his name and place of residence within.

Previously to receiving the premium awarded, the author of the successful dissertation must transfer to the Trustees all his right, title, and interest in and to the same, for the use, benefit, and behoof of the Fiske Fund.

Letters accompanying the unsuccessful dissertations will be destroyed by the Trustees, unopened, and the dissertations may be procured by their respective authors, if application be made therefor within three months.

Trustees — Job Kenyon, M. D., River Point; O. C. Wiggin, M. D., Providence; H. G. Miller, M. D., Providence; C. W. Parsons, M. D., Providence, Secretary.

WILLIAM A. HAMMOND PRIZE.

A prize of five hundred dollars is offered by the American Neurological Association, to the author of the best essay on the Functions of the Thalamus in Man. The prize is open to competitors of all nationalities, and the essays may be written in the English, French, or German language. The essays are to be based upon original investigations and experiments on man and the lower animals. The successful essay will be the property of the Association, which will assume the care of its publication. The award of the prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Association in June, 1884.

Committee — Drs. F. T. Miles, Baltimore, Md.; J. S. Jewell, Chicago, Ill.; E. C. Seguin, 41 West Twentieth Street, New York, N. Y., Secretary.

THE KEESE PRIZE.

The income of the "Keese Prize Fund," amounting to about one hundred and twenty dollars annually, is awarded by the Faculty of Yale College to that member of the Graduating Class who presents the best thesis. If, among the theses offered, none are of sufficient merit, the prize may be withheld for that year. The theses must be presented to the Dean on the second Saturday before Commencement.

EBERT PRIZE.

The income of five hundred dollars is given annually by the American Pharmaceutical Society as a prize for the best essay, written by a member, containing original investigations of a medicinal substance, determining new properties, or containing other meritorious contributions to knowledge. The fund for this prize was given to the Association in 1873, by A. E. Ebert of Chicago.

DIRECTORY AND BUSINESS GUIDE.

EXPLANATION OF THE ALPHABETICAL AND LOCAL LISTS.

It is intended that these lists shall contain the names of all members of the State Medical Societies in New England living within those States, both active and retired, so far as they can be ascertained. Those members who, in the official catalogue, are referred to certain towns in which they have last resided, but who are known not to be there at the present time, are, as a rule, omitted.

In the Alphabetical List, in the societies of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Rhode Island, the date, following the residence, is that of admission to the Society. The figures following the date denote the office hours. The date of academic and professional degrees, membership in societies, official positions held, authorship of books and articles, are given in succession. Except the date and source of the academic and the medical degrees, however, no facts are given other than those authorized by the members themselves. This statement will explain the frequent omission of important data. The asterisk (*) signifies that no return has been made to the author's circular. In Massachusetts and New Hampshire the dagger (†) marks retired members, who still live within the State; and in Connecticut, of those who have reached the age of sixty. Want of space prevents the publication of more than three periodical articles.

In the Local Lists the date of incorporation follows the name of the town and county. The succeeding figures indicate the population as given in the U. S. Census of 1880. The name of the post-office is given in brackets, when not fully indicated by the name of the town.

Under the head of Boston (Suffolk County), Mass., are included all those living in the city, as at present constituted: though residents of portions formerly known as Roxbury, Dorchester, and West Roxbury, are still considered by the Society as belonging to the Norfolk District Society, and those in Charlestown and Brighton to the Middlesex South District Society.

Directory for Nurses.

Medical Library, 19 Boylston Place, Boston, Mass. (Tele. 115.)

Established November 24, 1879.

The Directory has been more than four years in successful operation and, having the names of upwards of five hundred nurses on its list, is able to meet all cases promptly at a great saving of time and expense to those requiring nurses.

A record is kept of the names and addresses of nurses, their present and future engagements, prices, the particular kind of nursing for which they are best fitted, and other details likely to be of service to those wishing to secure the service of a nurse for illness of any kind.

Prices of nurses. Trained Hospital nurses from $15 to $21 per week. Experienced nurses from $10 to $15 per week. Male nurses, first-class, $21 to $35 per week. Second-class, $15 to $18 per week.

Male and female nurses may be obtained for all cases at any hour of the day or night. Fee for furnishing information as to disengaged nurses, from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M., $1.00; from 8 P. M. to 8 A. M., $2.00. An extra charge will be made in cases requiring unusual labor or responsibility, as when Nurses are found and sent in answer to applications by letter, telegram, telephone, etc.

It is earnestly requested that any failure to find a nurse will be promptly reported to the Directory.

Any failure on the part of the nurse to fulfil an engagement should also be similarly reported.

The following suggestions also are made in the interest both of the patient and of the nurse.

In case of absence of a nurse, all messages should be left accurately in writing to insure prompt attention. Never trust merely to the memory of the person answering your call.

The price for service of the nurse, and in confinement cases the definite dates at which the engagement is to begin and end, should be agreed upon in writing when the engagement is made.

Travelling expenses should be paid by the patient, and the nurse's washing be done.

A nurse should have sufficient sleep (if possible a continuous one), an hour for exercise in the fresh air every day, and facilities for bathing at suitable intervals.

A lunch or an early meal should be provided for the nurse, if required to sit up at night.

Committee of Management, F. C. Shattuck, M.D., C. P. Putnam, M.D., from Library Association. Miss Wales, Miss Dixwell, Advisory Committee of Ladies; Edwin H. Brigham, M.D., Registrar.

R. OGDEN DOREMUS, M.D., LL.D.

We have used in our practice the Hungarian Wines sold by Mr. LORENZ REICH, who puts them on the market unadulterated, just as they are imported. To this fact we attribute their great value as a medicine in diseases where such tonics are indicated, especially in those which are attended by defective digestion and imperfect assimilation. We cordially recommend Mr. Reich and his Wines to our professional brethren.

McGILL UNIVERSITY, MONTREAL.

FACULTY OF MEDICINE.

The Collegiate Courses of this School are a Winter Session, extending from the 1st of October to the end of March, and a Summer Session from the end of the first week in April to the end of the first week in July.

Founded in 1824, and organized as a Faculty of McGill University in 1829, this School has enjoyed, in an unusual degree, the confidence of the Profession throughout Canada and the neighboring States. One of the distinctive features in the teaching of this School, and the one to which its prosperity is largely due, is the prominence given to Clinical Instruction. Based on the Edinburgh model it is chiefly bedside, and the student personally investigates the cases under the supervision of special Professors of Clinical Medicine and Surgery.

(LAMBERT.)

FORMULA.—Each fluid drachm of "Lithiated Hydrangea" represents thirty grs. of Fresh Hydrangea, and three grs. of chemically pure Benzo-Salicylate of Lithia. Prepared by our improved process of osmosis, it is invariably of definite and uniform therapeutic strength, and hence can be depended upon in clinical practice.

DOSE.—One or two teaspoonfuls four times a day.

HYDRANGEA has been used with great satisfaction in calculous complaints and abnormal conditions of the Kidneys, and reports have been published by Drs. Atlee, Horsley, Monkur, Butler, and others, all confirming its value in Kidney and Bladder diseases. As the utility of LITHIA in Kidney diseases and of the uric acid diathesis is well known to the profession, the advantages of Hydrangea and Lithia combined in a form acceptable to the stomach must be apparent to every intelligent physician, and, therefore, he is at once prepared to recognize the value of LITHIATED HYDRANGEA in and all diseases in which a Kidney alterative or an anti-lithic remedy is indicated. A sample bottle furnished upon application.

WINCHENDON, MASS.

DR. IRA RUSSELL, assisted by his son, DR. F. W. RUSSELL, receives patients who need treatment for NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES, NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, OPIUM HABIT, AND ALCOHOLIC INEBRIETY.

THE HIGHLANDS, so called, is a pleasant mansion, with the addition of a pleasant cottage, situated in the midst of ample grounds, on an eminence overlooking the town of Winchendon, and the valley of Miller's River. From the windows a superb range of hills and mountains can be seen, reaching from Wachusett in the southeast to Monadnock in the northwest. The location for pure air and healthfulness is unsurpassed.

The utmost possible liberty is permitted under suitable guardianship to all the patients. No patient is subjected to the care of ignorant or uncultivated nurses.

Intelligent gentlemen are employed as companions and attendants for male patients, and educated American women, of experience, are the companions and attendants of lady patients.

Each case receives the attention and study given to private practice, and when needed, the ablest medical talent in the country is called into consultation. Patients are regarded and treated as members of a private family. DR. IRA RUSSELL has the personal supervision of each patient, and they are under his constant observation.

Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites,

WITH

QUININE, STRYCHNINE AND MANGANESE.

The Hypophosphite Salts have long since passed the ordeal which all new remedies have to undergo, and have taken their place as well-recognized elements of our Materia Medica. Given singly or in combination, in simple solution or disguised in syrups, they have found favor with physicians and gained the confidence of the public.

This combination is our Compound Syrup of the Hypophosphites, containing in each fluid ounce, 16 grains of the Lime, and 4 of the Iron salts, 8 of the Potassa, with the important addition of 2 grains of the Hypophosphite of Quinine, 2 grains Hypophosphite of Manganese, and 1-8th of a grain of Hypophosphite of Strychnine.

The association of Quinine with Strychnine is a favorite one, and the conditions under which we have here combined them are eminently proper. We offer this preparation for use where physicians desire to exhibit the Hypophosphites, and wish at the same time to supplement their therapeutic action by the tonic and stimulating powers of Quinine, Strychnine and Manganese.

This Syrup is indicated and may be prescribed in a wide range of ailments. The most important are the Organic and Functional Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Bronchitis and Consumption. In complicated nervous affections which apply to Epilepsy, Chorea, Paralysis, Anemia, Neuralgia, etc., etc.

It is palatable and at once readily digestible and can be taken for long periods without disturbance of the digestive organs. In many conditions of debility resulting from the exhaustion of nervous energy the continued use of this Syrup has met with marked success. The action is prompt, stimulating the appetite and the digestion, promoting assimilation of the food, and seems to enter directly into the circulation.

PURUS ET SANUS.

Why Superiority is Claimed. THE REASONS

FIRST.

The original liquor was carefully selected from the finest distillations.

SECOND.

It was kept in the wood from two to four years in U.S. Bonded Warehouses, where it could not be adulterated and where it developed its natural flavor.

THIRD.

It has been refined by The Cushing Process of driving pure, warm air through it, which produces rapidly those atmospheric changes that only occur after waiting for years in the old method of refining by evaporation.

FOURTH.

It has had all poisonous ethers removed by this means, and the equally dangerous fusel oil thoroughly oxidized.

FIFTH.

This having been done, there are no acrid properties left, as usual, to be covered up by the compounder, and the smoothness, mellowness and agreeableness of the liquor are produced without the admixture of any foreign substances whatever, and, therefore,

HUNGARIAN WINES.

D. A. MAYER, Importer,

526 Broadway, - - - - New York City.

The Wines of Hungary cannot be commended too highly; they are unquestionably the "Ultima Thule" of the vintage, and are truly pronounced — in an English scientific work published by Charles Griffin & Co., of London — as being drier than French Wines, more mellow than those of the Rhine, and more piquant than the choicest of Spain. I have constantly on hand, from frequent importations, a large variety of Hungarian Wines, in their original state and purity. My commercial connections with the proprietors of the vintages in the principal wine districts of Hungary enable me to offer to the public, wines in their virgin purity, superior quality, flavor, and aroma.

The Honorable Judges of the International Exhibition, held at Philadelphia, in 1876, awarded to D. A. Mayer the highest premium "Prize Medal" for purity and superior quality of Hungarian Wines.

The medical fraternity of Europe recommend these wines for their remedial properties, as also many eminent physicians of the city of New York, and throughout the United States, certify to their value as an ordinary tonic for strengthening the system of the convalescent, and for their recuperative powers they are admitted to be a panacea for many of the "ills that flesh is heir to."

Professor Liebig thus writes: —

"Wine, as a restorative, as a means of refreshment when the powers of life are exhausted, as a means of correction and compensation where misproportion occurs in nutrition, and the organism is deranged in its operation, and as a means of protection against transient organic disturbances, — Wine is surpassed by no product of Nature or Art."

And again he observes: —

"Wine is the universal medicine for the healthy as well as for the sick, for the infant or adult, and it is as milk to the aged."

The Lancet (London) says: "It is the best, as it is the fullest, dictionary of the English language extant."

THE IMPERIAL DICTIONARY.

THE GREAT ENCYCLOPÆDIC LEXICON.

Its Remarkable Sale in America.

IN the month of March, 1883, THE CENTURY CO., by arrangement with the English publishers, first offered to the American public the new edition of THE IMPERIAL DICTIONARY, — a work which, as originally prepared under the direction of Dr. John Ogilvie, had been accepted in Great Britain for more than a quarter of a century as a standard lexicon of the English language. The revision had been in preparation for more than ten years, and so extensive had been the changes and additions that THE IMPERIAL as re-issued might justly claim to be a new work.

The success of this edition in England was assured from the first, but the large sale which THE IMPERIAL has attained in America since its introduction less than a year ago, has been remarkable. It has been sold here only from the imported sheets, without change or revision; and the belief expressed by the publishers that American scholars would desire to have, for comparative reference, the dictionary commonly accepted in England as the standard of the language, has been shown to be well founded.

THE IMPERIAL satisfies both the scholar and the seeker for general information. As Prof. Fisher, of Yale College, says: "The class who are engaged in literary work are always ready to welcome a new dictionary which has advantages peculiar to itself. Persons not of this class, who are in the habit of supplying themselves generously with books, will find room for this newcomer But by individuals and families who, from motives of economy, wish to combine an encyclopædia and an English lexicon in one, THE IMPERIAL DICTIONARY will be specially prized. Indeed, to those who are possessed of more copious encyclopædias, a shorter reference book of this nature is an important convenience."

In etymologies, in illustrative quotations (1500 authors are drawn upon), in the number of words defined, in illustrations, and in convenience of form, THE IMPERIAL is considered by the best authorities an advance upon all current dictionaries. It is divided into four compact and handsome volumes, and the price for the set, bound in half Russia, is but $25.00, or $20.00 in cloth. All booksellers supply it. Send to the publishers for the pamphlet of testimonials and specimen pages.

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS.

(MARKS' PATENT.)

WITH INDIA RUBBER HANDS AND FEET.

CRIPPLES RESTORED TO THEIR USEFULNESS

By the use of Artificial Limbs, with India-Rubber Hands and Feet (Marks's Patents). Over thirty years' experience in the treatment of every class of amputation, deformities, or deficiencies, with unequalled success, has gained the confidence of the profession and popularity among the crippled. The rubber hands and feet dispense with complicated articulations, and afford every requisite movement for good, natural, easy, and graceful use of the member, with vastly increased durability.

Men with both their legs artificial are enabled to attend their vocations without detection. Arms restore the appearance and assist greatly in the performance of labor.
